RALPH McGILL

'The Shot Heard Round the--'

Now is a time when one can almost feel the world moving on its axis; when the air seems alternately filled with forebodings and with hope. It is a time such as the Romans felt when great Caesar lay dead from stab wounds and when the heavens rumbled and clashed and the sheeted dead gibbered in the burial places.

Out in New Mexico and Nevada the nights are lit with flashes which redden the skies across four states, turning the window panes crimson, causing the glasses of office buildings to flame, giving a weird cast to the streets where the swift sheet of light overpowered for a moment the electric globes.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's "Concord Hymn" comes into the mind:

"By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,

In time the shots fired there in the desert, where fittingly no life is, will be heard around the world. It is no flight of fancy to say that these flashes shone for a moment on the ancient walls of the Kremlin and lit the broad, Oriental faces of Mao Tse-tung's chiefs of staff. They gave pause to those who plan to throw the Bulgarians and the Hungarians at Jugoslavia when the winter freezes are done and spring is back once more.

At a moment when the world was saying that masses of ground troops such as Asia's vast spaces could produce had nullified the modern concept of tactics, the flashes from the Western deserts of America lighted and mocked those opinions.

Nuclear

They are periodic tests, they tell us. They are not atomic bombs, they say, in carefully guarded words.

And all Americans will be glad of that secrecy.

When the first bomb was tested six years ago at Los Alamos there was a spy there, the traitor Fuchs, who gave the secret to the Russians and with it all the preliminary work on the hydrogen weapon.

So, we do not know.

Is it a new artillery shell, with a nuclear war head?

If so, one such artillery shell would be effective over a radius of about two miles from the point of explosion. It would be a cancer which would eat great holes in masses of men. If barrages can be laid down, then to be sure there must be new tactics for the future.

Are they rockets with nuclear heads, so arranged long racks of them can be fired at once as Henry the Fifth's long bowmen fired their arrows into the French at Agincourt, or as the Russians seared the Nazis with artillery rockets before Stalingrad in the first great mass use of them?

They do not tell us, and it is well they do not.

But, it is a modification of a new weapon, the atomic one.

We know, too, because we were told a few weeks ago in a proper release, that work on the atomic submarine engine is progressing satisfactorily. It is likely that within the next several months we will read a guarded statement the submarine itself is undergoing tests.

Portents

There are great things happening, and it would not be unusual if the more fearful did not read portents in the skies and hear whisperings in the nights and feel the trampling of unbridled, never-shod horses trampling the roads beyond the stars.

All this gives meaning to the report by General Dwight D. Eisenhower and makes even more immoral those sniveling critics who cried the General was playing politics when his report on Europe happened to be very like that of the State Department's. Have we sunk so low in political morality that a man of the General's character may be so questioned because his report does not concur with those of Taft or Hoover? Has America forgotten what it is to have integrity in public life?

That flash from our Western deserts may light the path for Western civilization to survive, and the dead in Korea, whose sacrifice has awakened us to the threat, may be our votive stone in the meaning of Emerson's lines:

"On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone."

FOOD WITHOUT POLITICS
Herbert Hoover

Indian Aid Push Joined By Hoover

Bipartisan Drive Urges Food Grant

By W. H. LAWRENCE
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—President Truman and former President Herbert Hoover joined forces Wednesday in a bipartisan drive to win congressional approval of a large American grant of food to avert starvation in India.

They emphasized that Americans must feed hungry people from our ample reserves of food without regard to politics.

The President and the only living ex-President met together at the White House for an hour with administration officials concerned with India's request for 2,000,000 tons of food grains to alleviate the threat of widespread famine resulting from crop failures throughout a large section of the country last year.

When the meeting broke up, it was the former Republican President who called reporters into the former cabinet room to tell them of India's need for help and of American determination to lend assistance.

That he spoke for the President as well as himself was made clear by Joseph Short, White House press secretary.

Authoritative sources have estimated India's deficit next year in the neighborhood of 6,000,000 tons, and the Indian Government has said it can provide funds to buy 4,000,000 tons.

While India originally asked a long term credit from the United States to obtain the additional 2,000,000 tons, administration officials were said to feel there was little, if any, prospect such a loan could be repaid, and that it would

Assembly Backs Pleven's Talk

PARIS, Feb. 7—(AP)—The National Assembly Wednesday indorsed Premier Rene Pleven's talks with President Truman by a vote of 401 to 182.

Only the Communists went on record against him.

Pleven had called for a "massive vote" of approval from all but the Communists, whose support he did not expect.

Postal Ban Is Relaxed For Georgia

Embargo Remains On Mid-West Mail

Georgia was freed of the postal embargo Wednesday night except for shipments west of the Mississippi River, to the Great Lakes area and to St. Louis.

Atlanta Postmaster Lon Livingston said Wednesday night the State was included in the areas partially freed by the Post Office Department of an embargo on second, third and fourth class mails.

White House intervention in the railroad strike has apparently been forestalled by a steady back-to-work movement, particularly in Chicago and St. Louis, authoritative sources in Washington said Wednesday night.

Officials in close touch with strike developments said "sick" trainmen will definitely be back at work in St. Louis early Thursday and all indications are that the Chicago switchmen also are returning.

Scattered points in the West reported railmen coming back to work. Rail service in the East was back almost to normal.

The Atlanta rail picture appears back to normal except for 300 freight cars at Inman Yards waiting for pickup.

At Knoxville, Tenn., striking switchmen offered to work free to move "vital war materials" to the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic installation, or troop trains.

But they said that if they moved a troop train to a camp at Asheville, N. C., they wouldn't help get a freight train back to Knoxville.

"We'd ride the bus back," they said.

The full postal embargo remains in force for St. Louis and its nearby postoffices and the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan, except for the upper peninsula.

However, the two-pound limit on air parcel post mailings was set aside for all sections of the country.

The Railway Express Agency also announced a second modification of its embargo, effective Wednesday at midnight. This permitted express shipments between New York City and these areas—Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and the cities of Baltimore and Washington.

The Agency's Chicago office later announced that it was lifting its embargo on rail express shipments to all States west of the Mississippi River and to Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Wisconsin and Tennessee. The announcement added, however, that such express may be "subject to delay."

A Federal directive has ordered Georgia truckers to give priority to strategic defense freight and mail shipments.

A Georgia Motor Trucking Association official said truckers would co-operate to the letter.

At Fort McPherson, the Third Army has been using its own version of the Pony Express to continue communications and correspondence between headquarters and other installations in this area. One Army truck goes to Camp Gordon and one to Camp Jackson, S. C. Others go to Nashville, Tenn., Columbus and Birmingham, Ala.

Mayor Hit As 'Plan' Bills Move

By HOKE SMITH MAY

Charging Mayor William Hartsfield with attempting to "stifle all public hearings" on the Plan of Improvement, Rep. J. Julian Bennett Wednesday challenged the Atlanta chief executive to an open debate on the improvement measure.

The challenge, in the form of a letter, climaxed a hectic day which saw Bennett stalk out of a meeting of his Municipal Government Committee minutes before the group approved 21 Atlanta bills, many of them Plan-enabling measures.

The Barrow legislator, who is chairman of the Municipal Government Committee, angrily walked out after unsuccessfully ordering Hartsfield to leave the session.

Hartsfield and Assistant County Attorney Standish Thompson were present at the committee meeting. When Bennett demanded that everyone except committee members withdraw, Thompson left but Hartsfield stood fast.

Bennett pointed to Hartsfield, addressed him by name and told him to leave. The Mayor did not budge and Bennett declared the meeting adjourned.

However, Committee Vice Chairman Leo T. Barber, of Colquitt, took the chair and called for a vote on a motion offered by Rep. Willis Smith, of Carroll, to vote out the Atlanta bills favorably. The measures were approved 11 to 2.

One of the dissenters was Rep. Ed Kemp, of Clayton County, who said he wanted time to study the bills to determine if any of them affect his county.

He was assured by members of the Fulton delegation that none affected Clayton and that he would be given ample opportunity to study the bills before they hit the House floor.

At the outset of the meetings, Bennett said he had received many requests for a public hearing on the Plan bills. When Fulton Rep. Luther Alverson attempted to have Bennet pinpoint which bills had been asked for hearing, the Barrow legislator replied, "all of them."

Rep. James Mackay, of DeKalb backed up Fulton delegation members on their request for action on the bills. Mackay said the bills were purely local measures af-

More bitter weather, riding the tail of gale winds that buffeted Atlanta Wednesday with gusts up to 48 miles an hour, is due for the city Thursday and Friday.

The mercury in Atlanta which started to plunge Wednesday night to a predicted low of 15 degrees for early Thursday will climb no higher than 38 during the day. Another subfreezing drop to 25 will come Friday morning, after which the weather will moderate some, the forecaster said. Fair skies will prevail both days, and the wind will slacken considerably Thursday.

Besides swirling coat tails and making walking a perilous proposition in Atlanta, strong gale winds caused slight injury to one man and some property damage, here.

C. P. Culpepper, of Chattanooga, was treated at Grady Hospital for cuts he received when a glass pane fell from a skylight in a downtown hotel, striking him on the arm. Strong wind was blamed for the accident.

A wooden box, blown from a passing garbage truck hurtled against a window of a trackless trolley at Cain and Peachtree Streets, breaking the window and showering glass over the floor of the trolley. No one was injured, however. Carl Morgan, of 4 Vance St., reported losing a fence to the gale.

Elsewhere, a wave of frigid air swept east from the icy Midwest, but forecasters said the weather is not expected to be as severe in the South and East as it was during last week's destructive cold wave.

Remington Convicted Of Perjury

Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—William W. Remington, former Commerce Department employee, was found guilty of perjury Wednesday night by a Federal Grand Jury of seven women and five men.

Remington

The jury returned its verdict against the tall, sandy-haired ex-Government economist at 10:11 p. m., or five hours and 41 minutes after it began its deliberations.

Remington who rose rapidly through Government ranks to a $10,000-a-year job with the Commerce Department which he resigned last Summer, was charged with having lied in denying under oath before a Federal Grand Jury on May 25 last that he was ever a member of the Communist Party. The indictment against Remington was handed down on June 8.

He faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in jail and a $2,000 fine. Sentence will be passed at 2 p. m. Thursday.

Shortly after the verdict was announced, the jury was polled at the request of the defense, and the Court Clerk, George Tanner, drew an affirmative reply as he questioned each juror on the verdict.

Judge Gregory F. Noonan thanked the members of the jury and declared, "I think the verdict you have arrived it is a fair one."

One of the women jurors said that "there was not much debate about the verdict." Another said that to her mind the most convincing part of the Government's case was the defendant's activities in Washington with Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, confessed former spy courier, and with Jacob Golos, late head of a Soviet spy ring, in New York.

Judge Noonan delivered the case to the jury at 4:20 p. m. after a 30-minute charge. They then filed from the first-floor courtroom of the United States District Courthouse to begin their deliberations in the same jury room where a guilty verdict was reached against the 11 leaders of the Communist Party.

Warning the jury in his charge that "justice does not flourish midst emotional excitement and stress," Judge Noonan said the "sole question you are to resolve is—did Remington commit perjury in denying that he had ever been a member of the Communist Party?"

Wilson To Ask Greater Power On Food Prices

Concerned Over Rising Trend in Farm Products

By CHARLES E. EGAN
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—Amendments to the Defense Production Act designed to give defense authorities greater control over rising food prices are to be proposed to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee Thursday morning by Charles E. Wilson, head of the nation's Office of Defense Mobilization.

A spokesman for Wilson told reporters Wednesday that the head of the ODM is "deeply concerned" over the rising trend of food prices, particularly such items as bread grains and other farm products which have not as yet reached parity levels.

According to reports, Wilson fears the effects which rising food costs may have upon government efforts to discourage wage advances in the present crisis.

In the meantime, Eric Johnston, Wilson's deputy in charge of Economic Stabilization, told a news conference the cost of living probably would continue to rise "for a few months" but that it probably could be halted by the middle of this Summer.

Just how long the mid-Summer price level can be held will depend upon whether or not the country achieves a balanced budget, tightens credit controls and increases production.

Johnston added, however, that he was convinced the price levels would remain "as nearly static as such a thing can be" from mid-Summer to the end of this year.

"You can't bring a machine which has acquired tremendous momentum to a complete stop without wrecking the machine," Johnston continued. "The same is true of our national economy. The price and wage 'freeze' announced Jan. 26, slowed down the rising price spiral but it could not be expected to bring it to a dead halt.

"There are goods in the distribution 'pipelines' which were purchased at prices exceeding present retail price ceilings. Some leeway must be accorded for goods of that character."

In the first news conference he has held since he took office as ESA administrator, Johnston said that there had been many complaints about the fact that prices were not rolled back at the time the price freeze was announced.

"It must be remembered,"

Georgian Directs Fire On Seoul

Tanks 4 Miles From Capital

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO, Feb. 8—(AP)—American tanks crashed within four miles of Seoul Thursday and began blasting the Red-held South Korean capital with big guns.

The tanks were forward elements of a task force led by Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin, of Columbus, Ga.—one of three allied armored columns crunching northward on the 15th day of the United Nations limited offensive in the West.

Allied troops with bared bayonets went with the three armored task forces as they drove into fiercely resisting Chinese Communists backed against the thawing Han River just south of Seoul.

The tanks, bearing freshly painted tiger faces, struck thick enemy mine fields as the columns pressed their third straight day of attack and moved up within easy artillery range of the Red-held capital of South Korea.

The greatest armored drive of the war had forced the Reds to withdraw more than five miles to a new line less than six miles south of the Han.

UN artillery pounded the Reds in their narrowing defense area. Allied warplanes joined in the assault.

Clancey Admits He'd Be Fired If Gov. Long Had 'Some Guts'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—Sheriff Frank J. (King) Clancy of Jefferson Parish, La., admitted to the Senate Crime Committee Wednesday that Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana would probably fire him if the Governor had "some guts."

In his testimony, Clancy acknowledged he permitted wide-open gambling and banked $78,000 himself in the last four years on horse race and other bets.

Forcing a bleak grin, the ruddy-faced sheriff sat through a blistering tirade by Sen. Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, who said it was "disgusting" that "political vermin" like Clancy could hold office.

Clancy's domain, a little county known as a parish, adjoins New Orleans.

"If you had a Governor who had some guts, he would kick you out of office, wouldn't he?" Tobey roared.

"I guess he would," Clancy replied hoarsely.

At Baton Rouge, La., Gov. Long shrugged off Tobey's accusation.

"I have no right to kick," Gov. Long said. "That's up to the district attorney or the people. It would take a special sesison of the Legislature for me to address (kick) a sheriff out of office."

At the end of Clancy's testimony, after the sheriff had promised to go home and clean up all gambling in his parish, Chairman

Fulton Commission Switches, Affirms Malcom Timebr Deal

By BILL DIEHL

Fulton County Commission Wednesday quietly voted three to two to place its official seal on a presumably rescinded contract awarding timber-cutting rights on county land to James T. Malcom for $30,500.

In effect, the commissioners Wednesday approved a contract which they previously maintained was invalid.

The commission vote followed barely two weeks after a legal battle in which the county's right to rescind the contract with Malcom was upheld in Fulton Superior Court.

It was also made without any vote rescinding a previous cancellation of the contract.

Superior Court ruled in favor of the county on grounds Malcom had stated no legal cause of action for Fulton County to award the contract. Malcom was given 15 days to amend a court action seeking to validate the contract.

The county contended the contract was not valid on grounds that no contract was ever delivered to Malcom and also that it was never entered on the official minutes of the commission meeting.

The board took the vote in a quiet prepublic hearing Wednesday morning. A regularly scheduled meeting was held at 2:30 p. m. to consider other matters before the board.

Commissioners J. H. Aldredge and Tom Camp, chairman, voted "no" to the motion affixing the seal on the contract. Aldredge and Camp also voted "no" on the original motion awarding the contract to Malcom.

At the time Camp and Aldredge contended the county should not relinquish their rights to the 1,500-acre tract of land until it had been properly "cruised" to determine its value.

The Malcom contract was also awarded without any competitive bidding although it was later revealed that H. T. Bomar, Douglasville lumberman, made an offer some $14,500 higher than that made by Malcom.

Contract was originally awarded to Malcom at an early morning session Sept. 18. It was revoted Oct. 4 in order to force Commissioner Aldredge, who was then chairman of the board, to sign the contract.

The higher bids were received in time for consideration at the Oct. 4 meeting. They were not brought to the attention of the commission by County Manager A. E. Fuller and Secretary Frank Fling until the conclusion of the recess session the next day.

Fulton County Bars Dry As Sheriff Joins Drive

Kelley-Foster Clean-Up Campaign Hits Hotels, Clubs, Gaming Devices

Fulton County bars apparently were bone-dry Wednesday night following a warning by Fulton County Sheriff A. B. "Bud" Foster to "stop serving drinks" or pay the penalty.

The war against mixed drinks was apparently the direct result of the Fulton County Criminal Court's crackdown on illegal gambling devices, started Tuesday by Solicitor General John I. Kelley.

Included in the "bone dry" edict were Atlanta's swankiest hotels and night clubs, private clubs, country clubs and veterans' clubhouses in the Fulton county and city area.

In a special conference Wednesday morning, Solicitor Kelley and Sheriff Foster momentarily locked horns when the solicitor requested Fostor's aid in cleaning up "all the gambling devices in the county."

"Okay, if we're going to crack down let's crack down on everything," Foster told him. "I mean mixed drinks, private clubs and everything."

Kelley said he wanted it clearly understood that Foster offered police service to the four-man criminal court investigating squad "only if we promise to go after drinking and private clubs, too!"

A prominent member of the Atlanta Lawyers' Association said he personally resented Foster's attitude and added he felt Foster was in the wrong "to put pressure on Mr. Kelley."

In answer to the sheriff's demand to crack down on mixed drinks and clubs, Kelley told Foster to "get started." Later in the day, Foster said he had "called every place in town serving mixed drinks and warned them to shut down their bars."

"It's a violation of the law to sell mixed drinks and we're going to see that it's treated as such," Foster said. "I'm going to check personally and see that no mixed drinks are being served in the county."

Prohibition laws allow only the sale of package liquor in counties where a majority of the voters approve alcohol sales.

Fulton Police Chief Neal Ellis suspended from duty Fulton Police Lt. E. W. Wilson, who was listed as owner of one establishment raided in the cleanup of coin-operated horse-race and bowling machines. Wilson posted a $1,000 bond following a charge of "lottery."

Also posting $1,000 bond Wednesday was C. E. Walton, operator of Dink's Place on Peachtree Rd. Walton is a Fulton county fireman and brother of Jesse Walton, transit labor chief.

Seven persons charged with lottery following Tuesday's raids appeared Wednesday to post $1,000 bonds. Another, stopped while driving a machine-laden truck toward the county line, was permitted to post $500.

One machine owner asked if he could post his bond quickly because "I want to get down to Daytona for the races."

Listed as machine owners were the Lovelady Music Company, 583 Grant St., S. E., (which has a city license to operate seven music machines); Venable Music Company, 233 Memorial Dr., S. E., (which has a city license to operate 21 music machines), and the Star Music Company, 441 Edgewood Ave., S. E., (which has a city license to operate 56 music machines).

Word of the raids against the lottery machines apparently passed fast. On reconaissance Wednesday, special investigators said they found no machines in Fulton County.

In one restaurant, where a bowling machine Tuesday night announced "a free case of beer for high score of the week," the proprietor told an investigator he couldn't win anything Wednesday because "we never have give no beer away here."

UN Scorns Red Protest Against U. S.

By A. M. ROSENTHAL
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 7—United Nations delegations Wednesday threw out a series of Soviet charges that the United States had committed aggression by land, sea and air against Communist China.

Only five members of the General Assembly's Political and Security Committee—the five of the Soviet bloc—voted in favor of two Russian resolutions attacking the United States and demanding Security Council action against this country.

Forty-nine countries cast their votes against the first Soviet motion, asking for a verdict of guilty against the United States for conducting an "invasion" and "blockade" of Formosa. Three nations—Yugoslavia, Burma and Indonesia decided to abstain.

The second vote in committee was for a resolution "condemning" the United States for alleged air attacks against Chinese territory in Manchuria. This time 50 countries voted "no" and only Afghanistan and Yugoslavia abstained.

The two resolutions now go to the plenary session of the Assembly for the formality of a final vote. But all 60 members of the Asembly are represented in the Political Committee and the final ballot will probably show almost exactly the same lineup.

After disposing of the Soviet charges, the Committee decided to postpone the case of the future of Formosa, which was introduced almost five months ago by the United States. The suggestion for adjournment came from Sir Gladwyn Jebb, of Britain, and was supported immediately by Warren R. Austin, United States delegate.

Austin told the Committee that when the Formosa item was brought up, some prospect for a Far Eastern settlement seemed to be in the air. The "massive intervention" of Communist China in Korea and the decision of the United Nations to name Peiping an aggressor had changed the situation, he declared.

The Russian group, which had fought inclusion of the item on the agenda originally, Wednesday fought postponing it on the grounds that Formosa belonged to Peiping and should not be discussed by the United Nations at all. The postponement move carried on a 38-to-5 vote with 8 abstentions.

Several delegates said later that they saw no prospect for action on Formosa at the current Assembly session and that the item would eventually be dropped.

Red Nations' Arms Buildup Cause of Woes--Acheson

By WALTER H. WAGGONER
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—Secretary of State Dean Acheson declared Wednesday the basic trouble in the world at this time is caused by the vast buildup of armaments in the Soviet Union and its satellite governments.

The Eastern European satellite armies, which alone create tension and uneasiness, Acheson remarked at a news conference, are greatly in excess of the size that was fixed by the peace treaties, at least with the three Balkan countries of Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

The Secretary acknowledged, in response to a question, that the treaty violations might be one of the subjects the United States would want discussed at the proposed big four conference.

The Secretary's charge of the Communist arms menace in Eastern Europe was, in fact, his personal and informal reply to the Soviet note of Tuesday taking up again the possibility of a big four meeting. The note from Moscow to the United States, Great Britain and France, said Acheson, was a grudging move toward broadening the possible scope of the talks, but it still sought to restrict the freedom of the Foreign Ministers in discussing any question but the demilitarization of Germany.

It has been the effort of the three Western allies to assure that the big four conference, if it takes place, be authorized to cover the whole range of issues creating international tension, particularly with respect to Europe.

Acheson said he thought it was clear to everyone the question of German armaments is not the problem causing the trouble. The real tensions, he went on, arise from the armaments held by the Soviet Union and its satellites.

He called attention to the fact the Soviet Government did not demobilize their forces after the last war, as the other powers did, but maintained its great armies and expanded them. That, said Acheson, is the heart of the trouble.

Peace treaties with the three Balkan satellites provide a military strength of 65,500 for Bulgaria, 70,000 for Hungary and 138,000 for Rumania, for a total of 273,000. Informed sources in this country have placed the three-nation total at something above 600,000.

GOP Deals Blow to Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—The House approved a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Program Wednesday, but only after the Republicans, splitting the Democratic majority, rewrote it piecemeal to their own liking.

The outcome was a stunning blow to the Administration, the more keenly felt because it came on a key foreign policy measure. The Administration had urged a straight extension as "a symbol of United States determination to lead in the co-operative effort to expand world trade."

As finally passed on a voice vote, the bill restored "peril point" procedure which President Truman found highly objectionable when devised three years ago by th. Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress.

Repealed by the Eighty-First Congress, this provision, one of four major changes in the program wrought Wednesday, was reinstated in the House by a vote of 225 to 168.

Recorded for the change were 183 Republicans and 42 Democrats. Twenty-three of the Democrats were from the South, six others from border states and the rest from other sections of the country. The "peril point" amendment was opposed by 163 Democrats, four Republicans and the one 'ndependent in the House.

Under the amendment, the Tariff Commission is required to determine the point, item by item, below which tariff duties cannot be reduced without imperilling American industry.

If the President decides during negotiations on a trade agreement with another country to reduce the tariff below that point he must notify Congress within 90 days, stating the reasons for his action.

In the final form it went to the Senate, the bill made these other major changes in the program:

1. An "escape clause" was incorporated under which the Tariff Commission would be required to investigate claims of injury to American industry arising from imports and to recommend to the President the action he should take by way of remedy.

2. A stipulation was written into the measure to the effect that concessions on foreign farm products coming into competition with price-supported American commodities shall not apply unless the foreign product is to be sold above the support price.

3. The President will be required to deny tariff concessions in future agreements to the goods of any country "dominated or controlled by the foreign government or foreign organization controlling the World Communist movement."

Against all amendments save the last, Administration forces fought hard if unavailingly, and on the Communist amendment representative Wilbur D. Mills (Dem., Ark), who sought to steer the bill through the House without change, blocked its consideration in a form which would have made it apply to trade agreements now in effect.

Though two of the four amendments bore the names of Democrats, the Republican minority was the mainspring of the revolt against the Administration proposal. So sucescsful was the effort, the Republicans did not even call up an amendment they had to limit extension of the programs to two years.

Tory Defeat On Steel Spares Attlee

Industry Nears Nationalization

By RAYMOND DANIELL
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 8—The conservatives lost Wednesday night what was probably their last chance to save the British steel industry from nationalization. By a majority of 10 the labor government survived a vote of censure for insisting on taking over an industry so vital to rearmament at a time of national danger.

Thus, unless by some unpredictable misfortune, the government is defeated Thursday on another motion censuring it for bungling the job of providing meat for British tables, a large part of Britain's iron and steel industry will pass next week from private to public ownership.

The date the government has set is Feb. 15. Had Wednesday night's challenge by the conservative opposition succeeded it might have brought about a new general election which in light of the present temper of the country almost certainly would have revoked the mandate given to labor a year ago to continue its experiment in modified socialism and planned economy. It would not, however, have rescinded the law providing for nationalization of steel. It would have provided an opportunity for second thoughts by the electorate.

That chance was lost, however, by 308 votes for the government to 298 for the combined conservative and liberal opposition. It was the last chance in this parliament to unseat the government over steel, for in siding with the government Wednesday night the nine liberals, only seven of whom were present to vote, declared that henceforth they would consider the steel issue closed. Since the bill to rationalize steel became law the question whether to carry it into effect has been debated four times and each time the government has won.

The government enjoys in the House of Commons what Oliver Lyttelton, conservative MP, called "an ambulance majority" but in the country as a whole it seems to be falling from favor. This is not, however, because of any strong feelings about nationalization but because of rising prices, dwindling supplies of meat and coal, and a general feeling that while planning may be a good idea the ministers responsible for making the plans have shown a lamentable degree of human failing.

Nevertheless party discipline shows no sign of weakening. It was not for want of trying that the opposition lost Wednesday night. Despite all the oratory both sides voted on strict party lines as no doubt, with the exception of the liberals they will do Thursday on the more intimately personal issue of meat.

Labor, holding that the debate was merely a revival of a settled issue, treated the contest with open contempt. No minister of cabinet rank took part. The conservatives however called up their heavy guns. Winston Churchill led off. His major point was that this was no time to carry out a major transformation of the national economy. To do so, he said, was to commit an act of "partisan aggression" and to place a "major stumbling block" in the path of naitonal unity and national safety.

It was also, said Churchill, a "stroke of gratuitous improvident spite against a long suffering faithful community" and an "example of the cynical, spiteful mood" in which British affairs are conducted by the labor government.

Feb. 11-18 Set As 'Heart Week'

Feb. 11-18 has been proclaimed "Georgia Heart Week" by Gov. Talmadge in recognition of a major health problem in the State, the Georgia Heart Association announced Thursday.

The Association will attempt to raise $100,000 in Georgia during February as its 1951 fund to combat heart disease.

Buildup Asked In Substitutes For Plasma

Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—Recommendations that the National Security Resources Board begin immediate stockpiling of blood plasma substitutes, both for military and civilian defense, have been made by the National Research Council.

In making the announcement Wednesday, Dr. M. C. Winternitz, chairman of the council's division of medical sicences, emphasized that the stockpiling would in no way interfere with the present blood gathering programs but would complement these programs.

Dr. Winternitz expressed some concern that recent reports on the advances in the study of blood plasma substitutes might slacken the flow of volunteered blood. "Nothing can take the place of whole blood now nor in the foreseeable future," he declared. The substitutes, he said, were primarily developed to carry patients through emergency periods until such time as whole blood may be administered.

The three types of substitutes most favorable for present use he said were: Osseous gelatin, dextran and polyvinyl pyrrolidone, btter known by its German trade name Periston. O these three, dextran, a sugar fermentation product, is the most adaptable here at present.

While declining to give details, Dr. Winterintz said that within a period of months dextran could be produced in "large quantities."

Reds Can't Drive UN Forces From Korea, Gen. Church Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—Maj. Gen. John H. Church, until recently commander of the Twenty-Fourth Division in Korea, confidently declared Wednesday there is no chance United Nations forces will be driven from Korea.

To the contrary, he said, there is a "good possibility" of continuing the present advances while continuing to make the Chinese Communists pay heavily.

The battle-experienced commander of the Korean fighting, who is about to take command of the infantry center and infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., said at the Pentagon that United Nations forces have inflicted "terrific" casualties on the Chinese Communists. He said the proportion of Communist and United Nations casualties was often 10 to one and cited one instance he had personally observed where United Nations troops, by count of bodies, inflicted 20 casualties for every one suffered.

Describing the "great sucess" of the present advances with "limited objectives," Gen. Church said it appeared such tactics might be further exploited if the Communists do not mount a major counterattack.

When asked specifically about whether the 38th Parallel would again be crossed, Gen. Church replied that was a United Nations decision.

Senate Moves To Pare State's Welfare Rolls

By WILLIAM J. ALLEN
International News Service

The State Senate Wednesday moved in three ways to strengthen Gov. Talmadge's administration plan to pare welfare rolls down to deserving persons.

A resolution was passed unanimously requesting Congress to repeal the law which keeps welfare rolls confidential. The resolution is expected to meet no opposition in the Georgia House.

But Rep. Bush Mims, of Miller County, said he would like to keep the welfare rolls from newspaper publication, restricting their use to grand juries and welfare officials only.

Two other Senate bills, indorsed by State Welfare Director Alan Kemper, would lay the foundation for removing unqualified welfare fund recipients from the rolls.

Both bills were introduced as "coalition measures," but Kemper's support indicated the Talmadge administration favors them.

One of the bills, authored by Dr. Marcus Mashburn, of Cumming, and Sen. Walter Williams, of Gray, would give the State Welfare Department a lien on the real property worth over $250 owned by any welfare recipient, the lien to be inactive so long as the pensioner's spouse or minor dependent occupied the property. The Senate Welfare Committee asked the Senate to pass the bill.

The companion measure, authored by Sens. Osgood Williams, of Crawfordville, and Edgar Blalock, of Jonesboro, would require "children financially responsible to support needy parents applying for old age assistance."

The measure also would allow the State Welfare Department to recover in court trials the amount paid to parents of financially able children. The term "financially able" would be determined by welfare tables.

The bill says "the full amount shall be recoverable in any trial court while the recipient is still in life."

Rep. Mims, an administration stalwart, who heads the House Committee investigating the welfare Department, has said he will favor the compulsory support bills.

Ivey Elected Newton Solon

Constitution State News Service

COVINGTON, Feb. 7—Porterdale Mayor W. C. Ivey piled up a walloping majority in his home precinct to win election as Newton County's Representative to the General Assembly, unofficial returns indicated Wednesday night.

Mayor Ivey lost nine out of 15 precincts in the county, but edged his opponent, J. C. Hall, by about 300 votes. He will fill the unexpired term of Rep. A. M. "Dan" Campbell, who died shortly after his election last fall.

Robert H. "Red" Stanton, who has been filling the seat in the Legislature pending outcome of the election, polled only 147 votes to wind up in fourth place in a field of five candidates.

Dumas Elected To Head Club

Hal Dumas, president of Southern Bell Telephone Co., Wednesday night was elected president of the Capital City Club to succeed George C. Biggers, president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc.

Other newly-elected officers include Jesse Draper, vice president, and Alfred Kennedy, Jr., secretary.

3d Red Leader Quits Italian Communists

ROME, Feb. 7—(AP)—A third major leader in the Italian Communist party walked out Wednesday in protest against the party's stand that it would not defend the country against Russia.

Dr. Riccardo Cocconi, a former partisan commander, resigned in support of Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cucchi. The three come from the Reddest belt of Italy's industrial north. Cries of "traitor" were hurled at the three by the party headquarters for their stand that Italian Communists should defend their country against all aggressors, including the Soviet Union.

The Rome newspaper Momento-Sera said Palmiro Togliatti, Communist party leader for Italy, has been asked to return at once from Moscow to cope with the party rift. The newspaper is anti-Communist. The report was not confirmed by any official Communist source. Togliatti has been in Moscow reportedly recuperating from poor health.

Garbage Dump Yields Body Of Strangled Infant Boy

The strangled body of an infant boy was discovered Wednesday at the East Point garbage disposal dump in North Clayton County, police said.

A Fulton County coroner's jury impaneled at the A. C. Hemperley and Sons Funeral Home ordered an autopsy, and then adjourned pending a more thorough investigation.

Officers said the autopsy revealed the infant died of strangulation soon after birth. They said an inch and a half wide strip of heavy cloth, probably from a tablecloth, was drawn around its neck, knotted, and then drawn around a second time.

The body was contained in a truckload of pressed garbage dumped at the plant at 3 p. m. East Point Capt. F. M. Blount and Ptl. C. L. Lee said.

The body was discovered by Mrs. Gladys Hamby, a resident on the H. P. Jones hog farm where the East Point garbage is dumped. The farm is three miles south of College Park on Lee's Mill Road.

Blount said the infant "was fully developed" and weighed approximately eight and one-half pounds.

The garbage truck which deposited the body covered a route of more than 300 homes on one side of East Point and also picked up garbage in a second section, Blount said.

Dr. Herman Jones, of the Fulton County Crime Laboratory, and Dr. Warren Matthews, County Medical Examiner, will perform the autopsy.

Administration Tripped On Fish and Game Bill

Gov. Talmadge's forces suffered a slight setback Wednesday when the House sent back to committee for a public hearing an administration-sponsored measure to bring the state's Game and Fish Department under the control of the Governor.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Chappell Matthews, of Clarke County, would allow the Governor to appoint the department director at a $7,200 annual salary and authorize the director to choose employees of the department.

Passage of the bill by a 19-to-6 vote by the House Game and Fish Committee Tuesday afternoon brought members of the Commission, who now appoint the director, "up in arms."

Commission Chairman W. C. Ellis, Hazlehurst, charged the Governor with trying to wreck the Commission. "I have been one of the best friends Herman ever had in Georgia," he declared, "but this time he's gone too far."

A Commission member, Hugh Hill, Macon, declared the whole 11-man Commission was against the measure—"and all but two of us were appointed by Talmadge."

Rep. John Langdale, of Lowndes County, Chairman of the Fish and Game Committee, said no date had been set for a hearing. He added no hearing had been held previously because there had been no request for one.

Several administration leaders went along with the motion of Rep. Steve Halls, of Toombs County, for a hearing. That motion passed 75 to 44.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed two bills relating to traffic. One is designed to eliminate speed traps for which Senator Hawes of Elberton said "Georgia is noted." The other increases the salary of State Troopers $25 a month and adds 50 new patrolmen.

The speed trap bill would require all traffic enforcement officers of a county or city to wear uniforms, operate in well-marked cars, and have training equivalent to that of a State Patrolman. The bill also would require all fines to go into the general fund of the county or city.

Pay increases of $25 a month, making the base salary $1,800 a year for State Patrolmen, were provided in a bill passed by the House. The Senate, before passing the bill, amended it to provide mandatory subsistence allowances of $4 a day for the Patrolmen.

The Senate also passed bills to:

Revise and streamline the State Military Department. The bill contains a provision giving the Governor 200 personal aides-de-camp with the rank of Lieut. Colonel to "perform such personal and ceremonious duties as may be required."

Create a law writing department in the office of the Attorney General and increase the Attorney General's salary $200 a month. He is now paid 7,500 a year.

Establish a State Board of Therapy.

In other actions, the Senate passed a measure by Sen. Everett Millican, of Atlanta, to require holders of jewelery auctions to obtain city or county licenses and named a five-man committee to confer with the Board of Regents on future needs of the Medical College at Augusta.

The committee members are: Sen. Walter Williams, Gray; Marcus Mashburn, Cumming; William Henry Wall, Blakely, Sen. Edgar Lancaster, Shady Dale, and Sen. W. O. Strickland, Buchanan.

Bills aimed at newspaper monopolies and permitting papers to be sued in any county in which they had 50 subscribers will be taken to the Senate floor Thursday, it was predicted by their authors, Sen. Guy Connell, Valdosta, and Sen. Ira Carlisle, Cairo.

Committee Proposed To Study Capital Site

A resolution calling for the appointment of an eight-man joint Legislative Committee "to study the advisability of moving the seat of government from Atlanta to Macon" was introduced in the house Wednesday.

The proposal, presented by Rep. Nat Walker, of Crawford County said since Macon is approximately the center of the State "it would be to the great advantage of members of the General Assembly and the people of Georgia to have the State Government located in Macon."

Vickers Quits County Post To Take Job

Johnny Vickers, Fulton County Public Works Department employee who has been one of the leaders in the fight against the Plan of Improvement, resigned his post Wednesday to go into private employment. He retains his position as chairman of the Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee.

Vickers explained that he had been offered his choice of three jobs in private employment.

"When I came back from Burma with jungle fever in 1945, I was caught in the classification system and since that time have had only one $20 raise. I have enjoyed my work with Fulton County. I owe the County Commissioners nothing and they owe me nothing.

"I am going to spend a few days in a government hospital and then go to work for a construction firm. My fight on the Plan of Improvement had nothing to do with my resignation. I was and am against the Plan because it affects the area in which I live and because the people of Fulton County have never voted for this plan, as shown by certified returns of the election of last November 7."

He explained that he was differentiating between voters in the City of Atlanta and those in the rest of the County. Those outside the city voted against the Plan, he said.

Official figures for Fulton County in last June's election showed that the voters inside the City of Atlanta approved the Plan of Improvement by the vote of 17,367 for to 1,945 against.

In the county areas affected by the Plan, voters approved the Plan of Improvement in official figures, 6,560 for to 4,816 against.

Action Today Expected on 2 Tax Items

Two of the major items in Gov. Talmadge's tax revision program may come up for final General Assembly action Thursday.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee No. 2 approved reduction of the five-mill state property tax to one-fourth mill Wednesday, and a Senate-House conference committee voted for the abolishment of 125 state nuisance taxes.

Action on the Senate-approved property tax measure is expected in the House Thursday, and both Houses are expected to favor the nuisance tax measures.

The Sales Tax Bill was delayed in the House to give members time to study the 20 amendments which the Senate tacked on to the measure, but observers said final House action was expected Friday.

Meanwhile, the House Constitutional Amendments Committee No. 2 has appointed a sub-committee to study a proposal to free growing crops, livestock and household furnishings from state taxes.

In the Senate, a proposed amendment earmarking gasoline tax revenue to the Highway Department was taken out of the Constitutional Amendments Committee for possible action Thursday.

The conference committee on the nuisance tax repealer recommended a hunting and fishing license be sold annually for $1.25 which will entitle the holder to hunt and fish.

The committee also recommended elimination of a Senate amendment not only retaining the tax on wage and license buyers, but increasing it from $250 to $1,000 a year. Sen. Millican, of Atlanta, is expected to object to that recommendation.

S. C. House Gets Record Fund Bill

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 7—(AP)—A record-setting $143,000,000 State appropriations and tax bill for 1951-52 was agreed on late Wednesday by a General Assembly committee.

The House Ways and Means Committee, meeting for almost five hours, still has details to work out for a 3 percent general sales tax to raise an estimated $30,000 a year.

Tentative plans are for appropriations, sales tax, individual income tax relief, and a $75,000,000 20-year school construction bond issue to be lumped in one bill that will be ready for introduction next Tuesday.

Buses, Trucks Allowed Greater Size in Bill

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The House reached a compromise agreement on a bitter dispute between the buses, trucks and railroads Wednesday afternoon as it neared a vote on the Uniform Traffic Code bill.

The behind-the-scenes battle between bus and truck people and railroad representatives, which has been going on in the Capitol halls and hotels; came out in the open on the House floor with charges of "vested interests" filling the air. It was climaxed with a fiery dispute between Rep. Bush Mims, of Miller County, and Rep. Jack Ray of Warren and Rep. George L. Smith II, of Emanuel.

On the one point of hot dispute in the 65-page bill, the House beat down an amendment to keep the legal weights of buses and trucks at the same figures as now. The original bill would have increased the total weight allowable from 56,000 to 71,000 pounds. The amendment to retain the present limits was defeated, by a vote of 57 for it and 80 against it. The House then unanimously accepted an amendment to hold the limit at 56,000 pounds but grant a 10 percent margin, and increase the length from 45 feet to 50 feet maximum. The bill would provide a minimum penalty of $150 for overloaded trucks.

A vote on the entire Uniform Traffic Code bill is expected Thursday. Indications are that the measure, designed to reduce traffic deaths, will pass.

The bill provides a mandatory jail sentence for persons convicted of driving drunk a third time. As processed by the House Wednesday, the measure would set a sentence of 10 days to one year in jail or a fine of from $50 to $200 for first and second offenses. On the third offense, it would be a jail sentence of from 90 days to one year and, a fine up to $1,000 and revocation of the driver's license for two years.

Rep. Mims sought to defeat the Uniform Traffic Code bill on the grounds that the only purpose was to pass a bill granting busses and trucks more weight on the highways.

Then Mims charged that the "Big Four" in the House were concealing under the guise of the "administration" their own move to "foist on the state a measure benefiting bus and truck interests."

Reported Rep. Ray, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee: "When a man starts hollering about honesty, you had better watch him. Those who accuse others may be guilty themselves. A good way to cleanse a guilty conscience is by accusing others. Since April, 1949, the railroads have closed 60 agencies in Georgia. You can't get service except through trucks. The railroads should be improving their service instead of trying to kill bills. I was asked to support this bill by the Georgia Safety Council."

Mims, in a heated reply, addressed the House: "Gentlemen and Jack: I haven't said anybody had accepted anything from anybody. If Jack Ray intimates that I have taken anything from anybody, he's a liar. I have been threatened with revenge. I say, here I am, do your best. I am not retained by the railroads. The one purpose of this bill is to help the trucks, and they are tearing up our highways."

Rep. Smith, coming to the defense of Ray, declared: "I don't represent any bus or truck line. As a matter of fact, I am an attorney for a railroad. But the railroads are not fair in this fight no more than they were fair in the pipeline fight in 1941. The railroad lobbyists here today are practically the same ones who were here in 1941. This Uniform Traffic Code Bill is a move to put Georgia in line with the 31 other States who have it."

McGill Discusses Israel's Role

Ralph McGill, Editor of The Constitution, discussed the role of Israel in the modern world with members of the Peachtree Road Methodist Church Wednesday night at a dinner meeting.

McGill made a tour of the new nation last year and returned to write a widely-heralded book, "Israel Revisited."

Clark College Campaign Set

Thirty-five businessmen have laid plans to raise $75,000 in Atlanta for Clark College's $300,000 building campaign, General Chairman Robert R. Snodgrass announced after a luncheon meeting Wednesday.

A $125,000 gift to the campaign from the Kresge Foundation of Detroit was announced at the luncheon along with an anonymous gift of $10,000 and a contribution of $1,000 from Hughes Spalding to apply on Atlanta's quota.

Snodgrass said the $300,000 would be used to build a home economics practice laboratory and to strengthen and broaden Clark College's pre-medical course.

"By broadening its pre-medical course, Clark College will help alleviate the critical shortage of Negro doctors and nurses," he said.

Red Cross Plans

QUITMAN—Emory S. Bower, clerk of Brooks Superior Court, has been appointed chairman of the Brooks County Chapter of the American Red Cross, with Russell Hunter as vice-chairman. Russell Criner was named chairman of the 1951 Fund Drive which starts on March 1 and the local quota has been announced as $2,592.

CALLED 'INFAMOUS'

Talmadge Wants To Amend 'Give Away Schools' Plan

Gov. Talmadge will make some changes in his proposal to abolish the public school system in event of abolition of segregation—a proposal which has met with ridicule and criticism.

This news came late Wednesday, as Rep. Bill Brantley of Upson prepared to ask the House of Representatives to publicly destroy the "infamous" proposition which he branded a "Second Yazoo Fraud."

House Floor Leader Frank Twitty asked the Constitution Committee No. 2 to hold the proposed constitutional amendment in committee "until a substitute plan can be drafted."

Twitty said the Governor wanted to make a change in the plan, He declined to say what the change would be.

Committee Chairman Bill Freeman, who said he personally opposes the plan, declared he wanted to get the Governor's amendment on the floor "as rapidly as possible" for fear "I might be attacked by someone as favoring abolishing segregation if I tried to kill this in committee."

Brantley said he hopes to be able to speak on his "privileged resolution" Thursday morning.

His resolution notes that common schools are the principal pride and major obligation of the State government, and that Georgians treasure their University System, which is the oldest in the nation. He observes that the Governor's resolution would destroy these institutions and give away their physical properties to "private" individuals.

"In the history of this State, no proposition so unutterably foul and evil has ever been introduced in this General Assembly," said Brantley, "except for the one instance of infamy known as the 'Yazoo Fraud.' The monstrous and sinister nature of this proposition, like the Yazoo Fraud before it, is an attack upon the dignity and integrity of this House."

Brantley's resolution asks the House to save its dignity and integrity by officially labeling the proposal the "Second Yazoo Fraud," or the "Infamous Papers," and that the Clerk of the House shall destroy the "infamous documents" in the presence of the House. He would have the Clerk expunge the records of the introduction of the proposal, writing across the books: "Expunged by order of the House of Representatives in honor of the memory of Gen. James Jackson."

PLAN

fecting Atlanta and should be treated in that manner.

The motion to vote out the measures favorably came from Rep. Smith, who demanded that the bills be given "legislative courtesy" which is accorded to all local legislation.

After the vote was taken, Bennett said he would file a minority report on the meeting, which he claimed was "illegal" since he had declared it adjourned before action was taken.

He said he also plans to denounce the Plan bills and the committee action on the House floor.

Any question of the validity of the meeting was ruled out by top informed observers and House officers who said the committee session was perfectly legal.

One House leader pointed out that a majority of the quorum of committee members present must vote to adjourn before the session could be terminated. Another commented:

"There are some committee chairman who can adjourn a meeting and some who can't. But those who can must have a majority of members voting with them."

Bennett's challenge to Hartsfield received a "no comment" from the Atlanta Mayor.

In his letter, Bennett charged the Mayor with a "blind, malicious, nefarious scheme to foist upon the people of Fulton County a tax burden inconceivable in the minds of men.

"You do not have the intestinal fortitude," he continued, "to permit the people of Fulton County to know the contents of the so-called Plan of Improvement bills. . . ."

Among the bills passed out of committee was one revising the Atlanta ad valorem tax structure. Attached to it was an amendment agreed upon by Fulton and DeKalb legislators to reduce proposed maximum tax rates to a total of 21.5 mills.

Johnston said, "that you can't have a price rollback without a wage rollback, too. The idea of putting both prices and wages back to a predetermined date was impractical."

Johnston said that prices can and will be rolled back in several major fields but said he doubted the rollbacks would have much effect in offsetting price increases already registered in the over-all economy.

Officials close to Wilson said that the ODM chief had two major projects in mind in going before the Senate Committee Thursday. First project is to urge the early appropriation of $1,400,000,000 for use in extending loans to private companies expanding production facilities for the defense effort.

Wilson also is expected to discuss the food price question.

Cemetery Bill Buried in State Senate

A bill which the Georgia Cemetery Association said was "aimed at the West View Cemetery" in Atlanta was sidetracked by the Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday, to permit further study.

The measure, introduced by Sen. Osgood Williams, of Crawfordville, for the Georgia State Federation of Women's Clubs, would have regulated the operation of private cemeteries.

At a public hearing on the bill Wednesday afternoon, Sen. Williams agreed to withdraw the bill and offer instead a resolution calling for a Senate-House committee to study the situation and recommend legislation at the 1952 session of the Legislature.

Sen. Grady Rawls, of Albany, administration floor leader, raised the segregation question when he asked Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, Federation legislative chairman, if the bill would not require cemeteries to accept any body offered. Mrs. Peterson said it would not.

However, W. A. Ward, president of the Georgia Cemetery Association, said the bill "would do away with segregation." He also said that it was aimed at West View Cemetery.

Emory Chapel Is Dedicated

The new meditation chapel in the Alumni Memorial Building at Emory University was dedicated Wednesday by Dr. Goodrich C. White, Emory president.

In a special consecration service, Dr. White recognized the human need for "quietness, stillness and meditation. It is to that end that the chapel was built, and it is my hope that it will be used for nothing else," he said.

The chapel, sponsored by members of the Oxford District of the Methodist Church, is located on the south mezzanine of the building. It includes a special stained "prayer window" designed and constructed by Henry Lee Willet, of Philadelphia.

Others taking part in the service were: Bishop Arthur J. Moore, the Rev. Sam L. Laird, Wytch Stubbs, Thomas Mayton and Dr. W. A. Smart.

11 French Coal Miners Killed in Explosion

BETHUNE, France, Feb. 7—(AP). Eleven French coal miners were killed and seven injured Wednesday in a mine explosion 2,000 feet underground.

The disaster occurred in nearby Bruay in the heart of Northern France's coal fields. Rescuers were hampered in their efforts by gas and fire which broke out underground.

About 60 miners were working in the area where the explosion occurred.

ARE YOU SAFE? FROM THE HIDDEN MENACE TO HEALTH
Chances are you don't even know what it is. Yet it's a condition so prevalent . . . and so serious . . . that it has become a major topic in national magazines.
THE HIDDEN MENACE TO HEALTH IS MALNUTRITION AND THE ALARMING FACT IS THAT MANY OF US WHO CONSIDER OURSELVES WELL-FED ARE ITS UNSUSPECTING VICTIMS!

Do you SEE YOURSELF in any of these pictures?

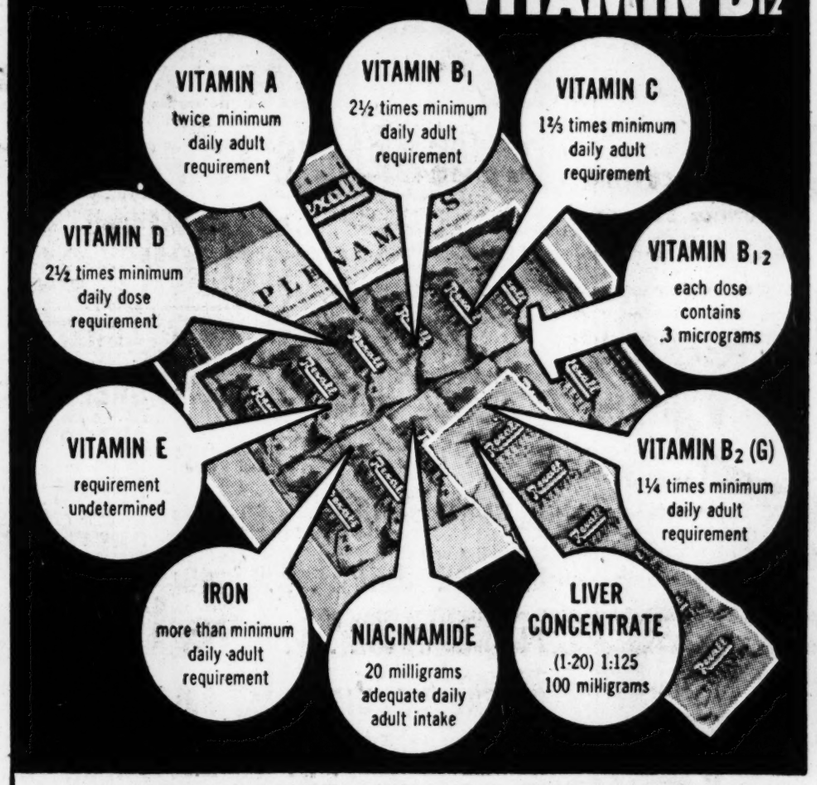
Do YOU wake up tired? Sneak an extra ten minutes after the alarm goes off, then have to bolt your breakfast in order to get off to work on time?

Do YOU start to sag around four o'clock in the afternoon . . . feel so drowsy and so weary that you'd give almost anything to be able to take a nap?

Do YOUR NERVES scream when the children get rowdy? Does your housework "get you down"? Door-bell ringers "drive you mad"?

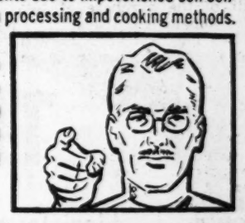
Do YOU beg off when your wife suggests the movies or having friends in for cards? Too tired after a day's work to do anything but fall asleep over the paper?

DON'T TAKE CHANCES — take PLENAMINS
An Exclusive Formula MULTIVITAMIN CAPSULES Containing 10 Different Vitamins with the plus-benefits of LIVER CONCENTRATE, IRON & VITAMIN B12



If you have any of the above symptoms, you probably blame it on the fact that you're not as young as you used to be, or you're working too hard. Actually, the real reason may be, and often is, malnutrition of the body tissues due to an insufficiency of vitamins and iron. It's an established fact (proved by eminent research scientists) that many American diets lack sufficiency of vitamins and iron to insure health. Even so-called "balanced diets" may not contain necessary amounts of iron and vitamins. That's because our modern foods are robbed of valuable nutrients due to impoverished soil conditions, transportation to markets, modern processing and cooking methods.

If Vitamin Deficiency Caused Pain (instead of negative symptoms like fatigue, nervousness, irritability) people wouldn't have to be warned to do something about it!



The real danger of malnutrition catches up with its victim when sickness strikes. A person may be getting enough vitamins and minerals from the food he eats to give him "passable" health, but may not be getting enough to keep him in the most favorable condition to withstand the strain of sickness. In certain infectious diseases, nutritional instability becomes a contributing factor to physical breakdown.

The need for adequate daily vitamin and mineral intake couldn't be made plainer!

AF To Send 17,000 Troops To Morocco

CASABLANCA, French Morrocco, Feb. 7—(AP)—Morocco expects 17,000 troops soon from the U. S .Air Forces to service the seven new bases France is turning over to the United States, French sources said Wednesday.

The first technicians have arrived, under Admiral John M. Will U. S. Navy transport chief. He and U. S. Consul-General John M. Madonne conferred Wednesday with French Adm. Leon Sala, Naval Commander for Morocco, and Yves Bars, the top public works officer. The conversations were secret, but are known to have dealt with American plans for improving the bases.

It was learned in Paris that main contracts will be handled by an American firm, using French manpower. Port Lyautey, where American Naval air strength will base, is to have six new runways. The Cazes Airport near Casablanca will get runways nearly two miles long to accommodate the longest-range American planes.

Work is expected to be finished by July.

Gas Shortage

ALBANY—Dougherty County is still faced with a possible gas shortage, according to John L. Arnold, city utilities superintendent, who said the City Gas Plant may run dry soon if another cold wave hits this area. Five tank cars of gas are on the way to Albany, the official said, but he cited slow deliveries in recent days.

Hale's Trial In Slaying Set Feb. 20

By DICK HODGES

Minor Spurgeon Hale, accused of slaying his wife on Sept. 7, 1950, is slated to go on trial for his life in DeKalb Superior Court Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Mrs. Blanche Elizabeth Hale, her throat cut, was found dead in their home at 223 Moreland Ave., N. E., on Sept. 9—two days after she was last seen alive.

Hale, who was found in the residence at the same time with his wrists and throat cut in what police said were self-inflicted wounds, has been held in DeKalb County jail since the killing.

Four Negroes are also scheduled to go on trial on murder charges in the special criminal session of the court, beginning Monday, Feb. 19, Leathers said. They are J. V. Mathis, Herbert Paul Albert, Mary Jane Moss and Annie Pearl Belcher.

Fire Rates Reduced

Fire insurance rates will be reduced from $1.08 per hundred to .38 cents per hundred in certain areas of west DeKalb County as a result of the purchase of two new fire department trucks.

The two big new vehicles will be used at new stations being set up at La Vista Rd. and Briarcliff Rd., and on Glenwod Ave., according to DeKalb Commissioner Scott Candler.

Another truck is on order and should arrive soon, Candler said. The new pieces increase the total vehicles of the DeKalb department to 15—the largest county fire department in the state.

Speed Factor in Wreck, Tragedy Probers Report

Engineer Admits Racing 50 MPH

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Feb. 7—(U.P.)—A veteran engineer who was at the throttle of the crack "Brokers' Special" for the first time, admitted Wednesday he was racing 50 miles an hour, twice the speed limit, when the packed commuter train plunged off a trestle here, killing 83 persons.

State and county officials investigating the country's worst train wreck in 33 years said that speed was the "indicated and apparent factor" in Tuesday night's tragedy which injured 500. One hundred twenty-one are still hospitalized, including 15 in critical condition.

The death toll went up to 83 late Wednesday afternoon with the death of Mrs. Laura Barber, South Amboy, N. J., in Perth Amboy Hospital.

An official statement followed a day in which the FBI and at least five other agencies began investigations of the wreck. G-men said they were investigating "the possibility of a sabotage."

The speed factor was listed in a joint statement by Atty. Gen. Theodore Parsons and Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber. They also indicated they might ask for a grand jury investigation "when we compile all the evidence."

Eber said Engineer Joseph H. Fitzsimmons, in a statement from his hospital bed, admitted he was going 50 miles an hour instead of the 25-mile-an-hour speed prescribed for the temporary trestle.

The joint statement by Parsons and Eber said:

"Speed has been indicated as the apparent factor in the cause of the accident. When we compile all the evidence we will determine whether there is a sufficient amount to present to the grand jury for consideration.

The grand jury panel of Middlesex County is now in session

Parsons said both Paul W. Triplett, New York division superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Fred Trogler, another road official, said there were no caution lights at the approaches to the trestle. No tests had been made of the tracks over the new trestle before it was put into service Tuesday, Parsons added.

But he added the roadbed had been built several years ago and its calculated safety factor was six times the required strength.

Although rail officials told the Attorney General they inspected the trestle Wednesday and found it "sound," Parsons said no further use of the span would be permitted until appropriate authorities inspected it.

Fitzsimmons, although a veteran of more than 30 years of railroading, was taking out the crack "Brokers' Express" for the first time when it crashed off the rails here. He suffered fractured ribs and head lacerations.

Health Secretary Urged for Cabinet

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7—(AP). A prominent medical leader Wednesday night urged emergency appointment of a secretary of health in President Truman's cabinet to develop a federal health program as a keystone of national defense.

Brig. Gen. James Stevens Simmons, Dean of the Harvard School of Public Health, told the College of Physicians of Philadelphia that a federal-financed preventive medicine program should be "aimed directly at the conservation of the health and strength of the country's most important resource—its fighting and working manpower."

CLANCY

Kefauver, Democrat, Tennessee, told him:

"We have agreed to recommend that contempt proceedings against you be dropped."

Clancy was one of four persons the Senate Committee had voted to cite for contempt for refusing to answer questions during the committee's investigation of crime in New Orleans last month.

Shortly after that contempt recommendation was announced, Clancy shut down gambling spots and yanked out slot machines in the unincorporated areas of the parish.

By his own admission Wednesday, however, he let some of the plushiest gambling casinos in the incorporated towns continue to flourish. Among these, he said, was the Billionaires Club of Gretna, La.

Through most of the hearing, Clancy kept a cheerful smile on his face, much to the exasperation of Sen. Tobey.

At one point, when the sheriff admitted he had broken his oath of office, Tobey shouted:

"Why don't you resign? Resign and let someone take over who has guts. Don't you feel guilty as hell? Aren't you a little ashamed of Clancy? Can you look him in the face at night? Can you look your grandchildren in the face?"

"Well," Clancy mumbled, "It wasn't the thing to do."

Tobey snorted. "Hell, it's disgusting that a man like you can continue in office," he said. "What is America coming to?"

In between Tobey's outbursts, Clancy gave forth a formula on how to win at the races. That came when Tobey demanded:

"How can you explain the fact that most people lose at the race track but you came away with $78,000 in four years?"

"Well," said Clancy, "they play all the races. I just bet on the last race or the last two races."

Puzzled Chairman Kefauver asked:

"What's the difference between the first race and the last race?"

"Well," Clancy said, "If you play the first race and get hooked you stay for the rest of the races and usually lose. If you play the last race and win, you go home a winner."

Wearing a dark brown suit, tan shirt and bright red-figured tie, Clancy told the lawmakers he permitted gambling in his parish for the sake of "old and unfortunate people" who needed jobs in the casinos.

The tanks grinding against the Chinese on the western front wore freshly painted-on tiger faces to frighten the superstitious Reds.

In two-mile gains Wednesday, the columns struggled through fields of mines and fended off attacks by Reds throwing Russian-type hand grenades.

The Reds paid heavily in casualties for the ground they chose to defend.

They lost an estimated 4,761 killed, wounded and captured in ground action along the entire front Wednesday—2,674 of these on the western front alone. This brought to 57,101 the total enemy casualties since the Allied northward drive began Jan. 25.

More than 20,000 Chinese Reds were reported massing north of Ichon on the western front along the right flank of the Allied columns striking toward Seoul.

They were being watched closely for signs of a possible counter-attack.

Cancer Drive Plans

CARROLLTON — Miss Iris Jones, chairman of the Carroll County chapter of the American Cancer Society, announces the appointment of Mrs. Eldred C. Bass as 1951 chairman of the county executive committee and board of directors for this year's campaign against cancer. Mrs. M. L. Fisher Jr. has been named fund-raising chairman for the drive to be held in April.

The loganberry is named after Judge J. H. Logan, on whose ground the hybrid fruit made an appearance in 1881 at Santa Cruz, California.

New Heart Drug Found Superior

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—The American Heart Association reported Wednesday night that a new drug known as tromexan has been found superior in the control of 'blood clotting disorders, including coronary thrombosis.

Tromexan originally was introduced into European medical practice. It is now under extensive clinical testing in the United States.

Atomic research at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory shows tromexan "has a quicker, more transient effect and less apparent side effects' than any drug previously available, the Association said.

Clinical findings in 112 cases of thrombosis and embolism—the clotting or blocking of an artery or vein—at Cornell College of Medicine, New York, confirm the Los Alamos studies, the Association said.

Elect Boards, Name Supers —Anderson

Kankakee "Buck" Anderson, president of the Georgia Education Association, said Wednesday night all county school boards in Georgia should be elected by the voters of their county and the county superintendents appointed by the boards.

Rep. Paul McKelvey, of Polk County, Monday introduced a proposed amendment in the Legislature which would require Anderson to seek election to his appointive position of Polk County School Superintendent.

Anderson made his statement in a Georgia Academy of Social Sciences panel discussion Wednesday night at the Atlanta division of the University of Georgia.

Other members of the panel, which discussed "Secondary Education in Georgia," were DeKalb County School Superintendent James Cherry and Atlanta Journal writers Margaret Shannon and George Goodwin. Walter Paschall, of WSB, acted as moderator.

Cherry said that with a sales tax to finance the Minimum Foundation Program, Georgia schools can, for the first time, plan a long-range program of progress.

Miss Shannon said the people's neglect is responsible for the dilapidated condition of many Georgia school buildings.

Goodwin said the public's apathetic attitude toward education is due to a lack of information on school needs and comprehension of the importance of schools.

Traffic Injures 3 Pedestrians

Three pedestrians were injured in auto accidents over Greater Atlanta Wednesday.

An 8-year-old boy was in critical condition at Emory Hospital after being hit by a truck Wednesday while playing in the streets. He was identified as Robert Strickland, of 313 Gramling St., Marietta. The driver, listed as James Roy England, was booked for reckless driving and causing an accident.

Struck by a trolley at Auburn Ave. and Peachtree St., N. E., Charles L. Pendley, 76, of 1614 Peachtree St., N. E., was treated at Grady Hospital for abrasions of the hands and knees.

Sgt. C. J. Harris and Ptl. C. L. Huddleston said the operator, Donald E. Hall, Rt. 1, Atlanta, was booked for violating pedestrian rights.

Samuel Cowan, 76, of 154 Garnet St., S. W., was hospitalized for injuries to the arms, chin, legs and hands, Grady records showed. Attendants said Cowan was brought to the hospital in a private automobile. He was unable to give details of the accident.

Harding First

NEW YORK—(INS)—In 1922, Warren G. Harding became the first President to use radio broadcasting to reach the American people, according to "Dunlap's Radio and Television Almanac."

Planning Commission Upheld In Board Zoning Action

Fulton County Commissioners amended only one recommendation of the Fulton County Planning Commission in acting on rezoning petitions Wednesday, and they granted liquor and beer licenses to all but one of the applicants approved by Police Chief Neal Ellis and the license department.

The Planning Commission had recommended that a petition by Pine Knoll Homes for rezoning property on Perkerson Rd., S. W. (beginning 430 feet northwest of Stewart Ave. and extending 1,295 feet) from residential to commercial use be denied. But the Board voted four to one to permit rezoning of the first 520 feet of the property.

"I won't vote to override the Planning Commission."

Commissioner Gloer Hailey said reasons for rezoning part of the property were (1) it had been a junk yard and would be "improved" if the proposed super market were built on the site and (2) no super market is within a mile of the site and 120 new homes are under construction nearby.

The Board accepted the recommendation of the Planning Commission in rezoning from a residential and apartment to commerical use a tract extending 610 feet along Maple Dr., N. E., from Peachtree Street.

Numerous residents of Maple Drive, Shadowlawn Avenue and East Wesley Road spoke against the proposed rezoning. But R. E. Dorough, part owner of the property, said the planned building of a super market on the site would "improve" the section.

The Board approved a petition by George E. Tisinger to rezone property on Springdale Drive and Lindale Drive from R-4 residential property to R-3 residential Property. It denied a petition by C. T. B. Harris to rezone 1232 feet on the east side of Barge Road from residential to commercial use and a petition by E. L. Williams to rezone Roswell Road between Maddox Way and Dilbeck Place from residential to commercial use.

The Board deferred action on an application by J. P. McCleskey for a liquor license at 20 East Andrews Dr., N. W. until "further investigation can be made." Chief Ellis and E. E. Aiken, director of the license department had recommended the license be granted.

A liquor license was granted the Meadowbrook Country Club, 3100 Campbellton Rd., S. W. Beer licenses were granted E-Z Curb Service Stores, 3670 Roswell Rd., N. W., and 1990 Sylvan Rd., S. W.; Atlanta Rod and Gun Club, 7600 Roswell Rd., N. W.; and H. L. Tidwell, 3090 Grandview Ave., N. E. Beer licenses were denied Catherine Buchanan, 8 Main St., N. W.; W. R. Wortham, Roosevelt Highway, and Melinda Traylor, 155 Anderson Ave., S. W.

The Board approved petitions for construction of lateral sewers or Peachtree-Dunwoody Road, Old Marietta Road, Hanley Avenue and Carroll Drive.

The Commissioners heard several appeals for improvements on roads and streets, including one by Lafayette Patterson, Jr., who asked that Venetian Drive be resurfaced. He maintained the Board had given him the "brush-off" and declined to stop talking until Hailey asked the sheriff to usher him to a seat.

The Board accepted the recommendation of County Manager A. E. Fuller to buy back $11,000 in Fulton County bonds offered by Robinson-Humphrey Company at $99.50 per $100. It rejeted $50,000 in Fulton bonds offered by the Trust Company of Georgia at $104.56 "because that meant paying a premium." Fuller said it would be better to invest sinking fund money in U. S. Government bonds which would bear more interest.

HOOVER

be more consistent with America's humanitarian policy to make a grant of this amount. It has been estimated that such a program would cost approximately $180,000,000.

The White House made it clear that Hoover had been consulted in advance of submission of a definite Food-For-India program to the Congress because of his great knowledge of the world food situation exemplified by his 1946 post-war global food survey for the President and his experience in administering foreign relief programs after World War I.

Important as Hoover's knowledge and advice is his political support on the question of giving grain to the Indian government, which has fought our policy in the United Nations for the exclusion of Communist China and for branding that regime an "aggressor" in Korea. Hoover has opposed much of administration foreign policy. But his backing of the Indian relief program will help win votes for it in Congress especially among Republicans who share his views.

"The American people have never in their history failed to relieve famine in any part of the world to the fullest extent of their ability," Hoover told reporters.

Catholics Arrange Lenten Devotions

A series of special services will be held at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church each day throughout Lent, the Rev. Fr. Joseph R. Smith, pastor said.

Services will consist of Stations of the Cross, a popular Lenten devotional at 12 noon, followed by mass and prayers for world peace at 12:15 p. m. daily.

Other Lenten services are being conducted by Lutheran, Episcopal and Catholic Churches during the pre-Easter season.

Bert Lindsey

Graveside services for Bert Lindsey, 59, assistant supervisor of education at the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary from 1938 to 1942, who died Tuesday in a Veteran's Hospital in Indianapolis, Ind., will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in West View Cemetery.

A native of Birmingham, Ala., Mr. Lindsey was associated with the Federal Penal System here until 1942, when he left Atlanta to become supervisor of education in the Federal Penitentiary in Terre Haute, Ind. He served in this position from 1943 to 1947, and was still employed by the Government at the time of his death. Mr. Lindsey was a Mason.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Zena R. Lindsey; one sister, Mrs. Joseph O. Price, of Nashville, Tenn.; and two brothers, Bob and Dale Lindsey, both of Elmore City, Oklahoma.

Gibb Leroy Cotton

Gibb Leroy Cotton, 43, automobile dealer here for eight years, died unexpectedly Wednesday at the residence, 712 Hill St., S. E.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Henry M. Blanchard & Son.

A resident of Atlanta since 1943, Mr. Cotton was born in Jackson County, and attended schools in Maysville. He was associated with the automobile business for 20 years, and formed the Cotton Used Car Company in 1939 in Toccoa, moving the business to Atlanta four years later. Mr. Cotton was a member of the Riverside Baptist Church, Maysville.

Mrs. Nellie Mullins

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie Mullins, 67, of 3323 Stillwood Dr., Hapeville, who died Tuesday night in a private hospital after a short illness, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church at Hapeville. The Rev. Z. E. Barron will officiate, and burial will be in the Peachtree Baptist Churchyard. The body will lie in state from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m.

Mrs. Mullins was born in Atlanta, and attended schools here. She was the widow of R. L. Mullins, former Hapeville Councilman and Wofford Oil Company executive. A life-long resident of the Atlanta area, she was a member of the Women's Mission Union of the First Baptist Church of Hapeville.

George L. Turner

Funeral services for George L. Turner, 71, former resident of Atlanta, who died Tuesday in Leland, were held Wednesday in Austell. The Rev. William Tyson, of Austell, officiated, and burial was in Marietta Cemetery.

A native of Canton, Mr. Turner was reared in Marietta. He was graduated from old Marietta Academy and later attended Georgia Tech.

He was a freight conductor with the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad for 40 years, until his retirement recently. A member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Mr. Turner left Atlanta two years ago to make his home in Leland.

John H. Caldwell

John H. Caldwell, 88, died Wednesday in Marietta after an extended illness. He was a resident of 1010 Gordon St., S. W.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Born in 1863 in Covington, Mr. Caldwell came to West End when he was three years of age, and later attended schools there. He operated a general store there until he retired many years ago. Mr. Caldwell was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Surviving are one son, Robert W. Caldwell; two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Hanbury, Mrs. Mildred C. Webb; and two brothers, R. H. and Kennon Caldwell, all of Atlanta.

Mrs. Minnie S. McCurry

R. C. Coxhead Dies in Florida

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—Ralph Cramer Coxhead, 58, developer of the varityper and other printer processes, died Tuesday night while on vacation in Florida, his office here announced Wednesday.

He was chairman of the Board of the Ralph C. Coxhead Corporation with a plant in Newark, N. J.

Coxhead, who began his inventive career as a naval officer in World War I, bought a typewriter company in 1933 that had failed in an attempt to modernize the Hammond typewriter. Soon he began designing the Vari-Typer.

The Vari-Typer was used during the drawn-out strike of newspaper composing room employees that ended in Chicago about a year ago. It is an office type composing machine that replaced newspaper type cast from hot lead.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Kathleen Coxhead, two sons, Ralph Jr., and Peter, and a daughter, Kathleen.

Priests' Protest Spurs TV Code

By PAUL JONES

Video censorship . . . talk of the trade for several months . . . took the form of reality the other day in New York when a group of Catholic priests took "steps" against a panel show which does not use a script.

The show was not named specifically. But, the churchmen are known to have put the "whammy" on the show because, they said, "random remarks" could be sneaked in which would be "frowned upon" by the church.

This action spurred efforts within the teevee industry to set up its own code of moral ethics—a plan which has been under advisement for many months. Such a code would be patterned along the lines of the movies' Johnston Office. Spokesmen for the trade feel such a move is necessary to "stave off outside interference."

The FCC controls material used on both radio and teevee. And, sponsors of shows have a responsibility not to offend their public. But other safeguards against "unrehearsed" material are felt necessary.

The Catholic Church has its own movie censorship board—the Legion of Decency—which "advises" Roman Church congregations against movies considered adverse to the laws of the Church.

A GEORGIA CONGRESSMAN—Rep. John S. Wood—will step into the radio spotlight on a nation-wide hookup at 9:30 (WSB-NBC) to tell an interesting story of how ex-Communists can prove their loyalty to this country.

Rep. Wood will describe in detail how such persons may volunteer their knowledge to a high Government source where such information will be kept in confidence. Dramatic portions of the same show—Counter-Spy—will deal with Communist efforts to persuade a defense plant worker to reveal vital statistics of the company.

TELE-GRAPHS — By coincidence almost all star: who have been featured in the Penthouse Theater later have appeared on a series of television shows in New York. We don't think the arena theater has any special connection with teevee, but, without fail such stars as Marsha Hunt, Boris Karloff, Anthony Quinn, Kay Francis, Signe Hasso and others have put in a video appearance . . . Latest of these stars to turn to video is Joan Blondell who is featured on Don McNeill's TV Club at 10—WSB-TV.

Gloria De Haven swaps banter with a past master at oral sparring. Alan Young, at 9—WAGA-TV . . . Eve Arden steps into the star spot on Starlight Theater's "Julie" at 8—WAGA-TV and Studio One's discovery, Reba Tassell, appears in "Dark Window" on Big Town at 9:30—WAGA-TV.

Buck and Bubbles, the Marvellos and Georgia Kaye will be guests on Jack Haley's show at 9—WSB-TV.

AIR VIEWS—Alan Ladd will be back in one of his wartime roles, the title part in "Lucky Jordan" on Screen Director's Playhouse, an excellent new radio drama show at 10 on WSB . . . Other names in the radio news: Joseph Cotten plays Abraham Lincoln in "A Man for the Ages" at 9:30 on WAGA . . . Fred MacMurray plays the part of a jazz drummer in Suspense's "Windy City Six" . . . And Robert Young treats listeners to another of his engaging Father Knows Best shows, a family-type show, at 8:30 on WSB.

Sun in Aquarius

General Tendencies—Here is a good day for all the detail workers, the people who enjoy picking things up and putting them away where they belong. There is also discussion or some type of message which seems important at this time. The moon is now in the sign of Pisces, inclining the attention of the majority to turn towards any type of liquids, either rivers, medicines, perfumes or just plain drinking water. Likewise, people born in the sign Pisces—around the middle of March—will prosper.

If It's Your Birthday—In spite of your unsettled state of mind, the present year should be a fortunate one for you. You seem to be divided in your interests, possibly feeling loyalty to two opposed groups of people. This condition will right itself, particularly if you allow it to simmer along until the late Summer months. There is a favorable increase in money matters headed your way, due to reach you after some conflict in the early part of August or late July.

Pennsylvanian New Chest Chief

A new director for Greater Atlanta's Community Chest will assume his duties here about April 1.

Pennsylvanian Lawrence P. McDonough, a social service worker for 22 years, spent four months in Atlanta in 1948 managing a regional church campaign.

McDonough, his wife and two daughters will be here Friday to hunt a house.

The new director has resigned as head of the Allegheny County (Pa.) Community Chest to accept the Atlanta position.

RAF Orders Speedier Jets

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—Britain has ordered "very large numbers" of faster jet planes than any now in service with the Royal Air Force, the House of Commons was told Wednesday.

Arthur Henderson, the Air Secretary, said he also hoped to disclose soon whether his country would obtain some of America's F-86 Sabre Jets, fastest fighter plane now in regular military use.

Henderson told Parliament last week a proposal for obtaining F-86s was "under examination." The Sabre Jet is rated at about 670 miles per hour.

Prime Minister Attlee told the House Britain had placed orders for a new four-engined jet bomber still on the secret list.

In reply to questions, Henderson said this is a "long distance, high altitude" plane. He gave no further details.

Britain also is rushing production on a two-engined jet bomber, the Canberra. The U. S. Air Force is thinking of buying some of this type.

Liz Taylor Wins Harvard 'Roscoe' For Worst Film Performance in '50

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 7—(U.P.)—Elizabeth Taylor won thumbs down Wednesday when the Harvard Lampoon announced its annual selection of worst movie performance of 1950.

Miss Taylor

The Lampoon, undergraduate humor magazine, awarded Miss Taylor its "Roscoe" for "so gallantly persisting in her career despite a total inability to act."

Besides winning the "Roscoe," Miss Taylor was named the year's "most objectionable ingenue," one of two of the "most objectionable movie children," and the perpetrator of the worst female performance of the year in "The Conspirators."

Clifton Webb was nominated for the worst male performance in "Cheaper by the Dozen," while Dean Stockwell was named the most objectionable male child.

The happiest event of the year, according to the Lampoon, was "Shirley Temple's announced retirement from the movies."

GBI Seeking Vanished Beating Case Witness

By KEELER McCARTNEY

DOUGLASVILLE, Feb. 7—The chief witness had vanished Wednesday as investigators sought an opening clue in the mystery beating of two Douglas County Negro men Saturday night.

Arthur C. Cowan, 31, Negro, of Lithia Springs, was admitted to Grady Hospital at 1:30 a. m. Monday, Supt Frank Wilson said Hospital records showed a quantity of buckshot was removed from his back, neck and hands. He was instructed to return Tuesday for further treatment, but failed to appear.

Cowan also failed to report for work at a Mableton furniture store where he is employed as deliveryman. investigators said. GBI agents were attempting to trace Cowan's movements after he left the hospital, while in Douglasville Sheriff Mack Abercrombie and other GBI agents were attempting to identify the eight or nine white men responsible for the incident.

Abercrombie, regarded as one of Georgia's more efficient law enforcement officers, expressed doubt the Ku Klux Klan was responsible for flogging Cowan and Jessie Arnold, also of Lithia Springs. Cowan and Arnold told officers the men said they were Klansmen, but wore no masks or Klan regalia.

In Atlanta, Sam Roper, head of the Association of Georgia Klans, hotly denied the Klan was connected with the incident and said he also was conducting an investigation to fix the blame "where it belongs."

Reports at Douglasville indicated a similar group of armed men called at the home of an unidentified Negro Thursday night and attempted to take him from his house. The Negro held off the group with a shotgun. He has since left the community.

The group drove to Cowan's home first and forced him to enter the car clad only in nightclothes, Abercrombie said. They then drove two miles to the home of Arnold. Both Negroes were taken to the Mt. Carmel School near Lithia Springs.

Cowan broke away and ran, officers said. He was felled by a shotgun blast. After Arnold was struck several times, investigators added, the abductors "realized they had the wrong man and let him go."

U. S. Demands Russians Return 672 Lease Ships

Also Presses for Overdue Account

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—The U. S. Wednesday formally demanded that Russia immediately return 672 lend-lease naval and merchant ships sent to her aid in World War II.

The State Department disclosed a note demanding this was handed to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin at Wednesday's stalemated lend-lease talks.

At the same time, the State Department confirmed it is asking the Soviet Union to pay $800,000,000 to settle Russia's ovedue lend-lease account of $10,800,000,000. Russia reportedly has countered with a "final offer" of $240,000,000.

Panyushkin

Russian representatives have refused to discuss return of the 672 ships, officials said. The Soviets insist Russia wants to buy the vessels, which include 87 merchant ships.

But the U. S. Government flatly refuses to sell them to Moscow unless the Russians settle up their overall lend-lease account.

These facts were made public Wednesday night after the Russian newspaper Pravda had accused the U. S. of trying to sabotage present talks. The American Government was charged with giving Britain a better deal than the Russians were offered.

In emphatically denying this, State Department officials said Russia was actually offered twice as good a bargain as the British.

Moscow is being asked to pay $800,000,000 for a total of $2,600,000,000 in lend-lease supplies which had peacetime value. This figures out to about 30 cents on the dollar, they said.

Britain, on the other hand, paid up $472,000,000 for a total of $780,000,000 in similar civilian-type lend-lease. This averages about 60 cents to the dollar.

The text of the note was not made public. Officials said it demanded in forthright terms that all lend-lease vessels be returned at once.

The 672 ships include 554 small naval craft such as mine sweepers, torpedo boats and landing craft; 29 ships identified as "military water craft;" 87 merchant ships including 36 war-built Liberty vessels, and two modern ice breakers.

The American note backing up the demand pointed out, officials said, that the vessels are needed by the U. S. Government under its stepped-up defense program.

SOLD ON GEORGIA

King Likes State as Site For Movies

Henry King, top director of 20th Century Fox, said Wednesday he already is looking for another script to film in Georgia.

As he prepared to leave following the world premiere of "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain" at the Paramount, King said he was "sold on Georgia" and "wanted to return at the earliest opportunity to make another movie here."

King and Susan Hayward, who left Wednesday for Kansas City, Mo., where the mid-Western premiere of "ICTHM" will be held Friday, were overcome with the hospitality of the Young Matrons Circle for Tallulah Falls and of the people in Atlanta and Georgia.

King addressed branch managers of 20th Century Fox at a special diner at the Atlanta Variety Club. He pointed to a number of new flickers now before the cameras or in the cutting rooms. He added the product for 1951 looks better than ever.

He will fly his own twin-engine plane back to Hollywood Thursday. High winds discouraged his leaving Wednesday.

Press Praised For Klan Ban

The victorious end of a 13-year battle by Atlanta newspapers to drive the Ku Klux Klan out of the State is hailed in the current issue of Time Magazine which goes on sale at newsstands Thursday.

In a press section article, Time relates the long crusade by Constitution Editor Ralph McGill, The Constitution, The Journal, and most of Georgia's other dailies and weeklies during which the hooded order fought back with masked parades, threats and abuse.

"Last week The Constitution and the other papers won a complete victory," the article states. "Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge signed a . . . bill which banned the whole paraphernalia of the hooded order."

Women Schedule Prayer Services

Two World Day of Prayer services will be held at the Decatur Christian Church Friday, the DeKalb Council of Church Women announced Wednesday.

Dr. Wallace M. Alston, vice president of Agnes Scott College, will speak and the Decatur Choral Club, directed by Mrs. John Hoffman, will sing at the morning service at 10 o'clock.

Edward McNair, of Emory, will speak at 7:30 p. m. This service will be conducted by a group from the First Baptist Church.

A Triumph for Fair Play

There was a reassuring exhibition of fair play in the General Assembly yesterday when the House Municipal Government Committee defeated attempts to bottle up Plan of Improvement legislation and, despite a boycott by the chairman, recommended approval of 21 bills which will help make a greater metropolitan area.

The Plan of Improvement twice has been indorsed by the voters. Bills before the Committee have the unanimous approval of the Fulton and DeKalb delegations in the Legislature. As a matter of justice and legislative courtesy they ought to be passed.

But Rep. Julian Bennett of Barrow County, chairman of the Municipal Government Committee, wanted to hold public hearings, possibly with the intention of delaying action until it was too late for passage. Rep. Bennett reached into the air and brought out the charge the bills were "Communist inspired," totally disregarding the fact that the Plan was drawn by a Commission authorized by the General Assembly and made up of a group of the most responsible citizens of DeKalb and Fulton Counties.

Rep. Bennett also came forth with the unsolicited remark that there were rumors he had been "bought off" by certain groups and declared, vigorously, that this was untrue.

Sen. Everett Millican of Fulton has charged on the floor of the Senate that Fulton Public Works Department employees have been assessed to raise a fund to fight Plan of Improvement bills. It is known that certain of the County Commissioners and county employees have been working hard to defeat the Plan, the essence of which is consolidation of various city and county functions. It would lessen the patronage power of County Commissioners but it would eliminate duplications in government and, in the long run, save taxpayers money.

At the Committee meeting yesterday, Chairman Bennett declined to put a motion offered by Rep. Willis Smith, of Carrollton, and duly seconded, recommending approval of the bills. Instead, the chairman demanded spectators be cleared out. Failing that, he attempted to adjourn the Committee. When the members kept their seats, the chairman stalked out.

But if Rep. Bennett hoped that his Vishinsky-like boycott would stymie action, he was sorely disappointed. Rep. Leo Barber, of Moultrie, took the chair and promptly put the motion to the Committee. It was approved.

It is a tribute to the fair-mindedness of Reps. Smith and Barber, as well as other members of the Committee, that they refused to be swayed by Chairman Bennett's unaccountable opposition to legislation which in no way affects his district or his constituents. The people of Atlanta and Fulton County have approved the Plan of Improvement.

The Committee's action, in refusing to allow the expressed wish of several hundred thousand persons to be blocked by the unexplained opposition of one legislator, is in the best tradition of representative government.

We trust the House of Representatives as a body will follow its committee's intelligent example.

Georgia—Top Peanut-Growing State

Georgia has special reasons for observing National Peanut Week.

Peanuts account for 25 per cent of the State's total farm income, standing only next to cotton in this respect. More peanuts are grown in Georgia than in any other State. In fact, Georgia's production is close to one-third of the nation's total.

Not only have the State's farmers benefited. Processing plants have been established in the peanut area which provide employment for thousands of persons at good wages. We have done with peanuts what we have failed to do with many of our other raw materials—established facilities for handling them from the field to the market.

It is difficult to think of peanuts without also thinking of the late Dr. George Washington Carter, of Tuskegee Institute, who devoted much of his life to developing new processes and uses for peanuts. He never missed an opportunity for dwelling upon the nutritive value of peanuts and it is due at least in part to his efforts that peanuts have become a highly profitable crop for the Southern States, notably for about 25 counties in Southwest Georgia.

Too Much Divided Authority Already

It would seem Gov. Talmadge would have had enough of the consequences of divided authority within State agencies.

Recent flareups in the Department of Education, where the Board is appointed by the Governor and the Superintendent, the administrative officer, elected by the people, were caused primarily by this division.

But now the Administration is sponsoring a bill which would achieve the same sort of breakdown—and probably with the same eventual results—in the Game and Fish Commission. As matters now stand, the Commission, appointed by the Governor with approval of the Senate, names the Director. That is as it should be. The Commission determines the policies to be pursued and the director carries them out. But the proposed bill would give to the Governor the power to name the Director.

Obviously, if the Governor names him the Director will be carrying out the Governor's and not the Game and Fish Commission's policies. The bill would hand over practical control of the agency to the Governor and the Commission would be left out in the cold despite the fact that it is a constitutional body.

A more sensible proposal would be an amendment writing into the constitution the Commission's power to name the Director.

The fact that all 11 members of the Commission—all but two of whom were named by Gov. Talmadge—are against the bill is reason enough for the Legislature to turn it down.

Different Names, Same Tragic Mistake

Within the month at least twenty people have burned to death in home fires in Georgia. In some of these tragedies the cause of the fire was not known. But in at least two the story was the familiar one—kerosene or some other inflammable used carelessly in building a fire.

The Pickens County Progress recorded one such incident, the death of a 32-year-old man, saying, "Mr. C—— picked up the can of fuel oil and poured some on the smoldering embers. The flames followed the oil fumes to the can and the explosion followed."

The same week end in Gwinnett County, at Buford, the same story—the only difference is the place and the names. Listen to The Buford Advertiser: "He poured fuel oil into the heater, flames running into the can he was holding, thus causing it to explode, setting him and the building on fire."

Isn't that enough to convince anyone that given the same set of circumstances the same tragic result is apt to follow? Yet each day hundreds of Georgians are risking their lives, their homes, the lives of their loved ones by carelessness, criminal negligence even, in the handling of dangerous fuels.

The Second 'R' Holds Its Own

Penmanship is not a lost art! According to a survey made by the Sheaffer pen people, about two-thirds of the high school graduates today have a handwriting which school principals pronounce "satisfactory." The "satisfactory" means no doubt that the principal can read the writing. After all, that should be the primary test. As a matter of fact, in a day when Emily Post allows the typewriter, even for social notes, about the only reason for learning to write is to be able to sign checks. And the objective there is to render forgery difficult by making the signature as nearly illegible as possible. The physician, of course, still takes the rap as the world's worst at penmanship. A South Georgia paper tells about a society matron who asked the town's new doctor to dinner. In reply to her invitation she received a letter, the illegibility of which would defy the Army's best code cracker. The lady had to know whether or not the guest was coming, so her husband suggested that she take the note over to the druggist, saying, "Druggists are used to reading doctors' handwriting. Maybe he can decipher this specimen."

She took the letter to the drugstore and handed it to the pharmacist. The man in the white coat studied the slip of paper carefully, went back into the dispensary, busied himself with mortar and pestle and came out with a package.

"Here you are, madam," he said, handing her the package and the scribbled note. "That will be 75 cents."

She took the doctor's letter home. Her daughter played it on the piano and won a scholarship to a conservatory of music.

A One-Boy Crime Wave

Ohio police have arrested a seven-year-old boy who has confessed not only robbing a bank but also 28 other assorted crimes.

How juvenile can delinquency get?

Before you attempt to answer, consider the fact that he probably wouldn't have been apprehended except that he was squealed on by his accomplice, a lad of five.

That's what an old hand at the rackets gets for taking up with a kid.

Incidentally, one of the charges against the seven-year-old veteran is car theft, a crime wherein he demonstrated the shortsightedness characteristic of youth. The model would be outdated, I mean, in the nine years before he's old enough to get a driver's license.

Seriously, too many kids are going from their play pens to Federal ones.

It is my personal opinion that there is a genuine relation between the rise in juvenile delinquency and the decline of the woodshed. Like charity, crime prevention begins at home.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

The Next Month Should Tell

WASHINGTON—It is perhaps too risky to venture a firm appraisal of recent military events in Korea which, on the whole, have been highly favorable to United Nations forces. The Chinese Communists have shown themselves in the past to be both resourceful and tricky and the meaning of their present retreat, in the face of the rather light offensive we have struck, remains to be fully revealed.

Competent military observers are expressing the opinion, however, that the weakness shown by the Reds in the past few weeks may be the result of the telling blows we have struck since the Chinese crossed the Yalu River and swept down into North Korea from Manchuria back in November.

There is the statement the other day, for example, of Gen. Ridgway, commander of the Eighth Army, that the Chinese Communists, since Jan. 1, have lost at least 40,000 dead and 120,000 wounded, not counting other losses they must have suffered from frostbite and disease.

Great Losses These are staggering figures, considering the limited forces we are employing. They represent greater casualties than we have suffered throughout the Korean War from its beginning last June. It is reasonable to assume that in our retreat from North Korea we inflicted similar heavy damage on the invaders aligned against us.

If the figures appear to be excessive, it can only be said that Gen. Ridgway has a reputation for being conservative in his estimates. Moreover, they were contained in a report he submitted to Gen. MacArthur, and it doesn't stand to reason that he would be guilty of exaggeration at that source.

But whether the Ridgway figures are to be discounted or not, there can be little doubt on the score that we have been giving the Chinese Reds more punishment than they bargained for. The toll taken by our superior fire power and our air forces has been terrific.

We have been employing another little trick that plays havoc with their men. Our fliers lay down 50,000 to 100,000 gallons of deadly jellied gasoline over an area where the Reds are dug in. Then the substance is lighted as low-flying planes come in strafing with rockets and machine guns. A sea of flames envelops the area, exhausting the oxygen from the air and smothering any of the enemy hidden away in foxholes.

In that way we have been wiping them out wholesale. Considering the fact that our airpower is virtually unchallenged, that alone should be enough to make up for any advantage the Chinese hold in numbers. The Ridgway figures may not seem high in the light of these factors.

Strategic Retreat When the final history of the Chinese intervention is written it may show that the retreat of our forces from North Korea below the 38th parallel was more strategic than precipitant. It may be that we deliberately fell back to force the Chinese to extend their supply lines. Then we started cutting these lines to ribbons with our air force.

We could not have done this so effectively if the fighting had been concentrated near the Manchurian border, for the United Nations mandate under which we are operating did not permit us to cross the border. It is a silly sort of a war, but that is the way we are having to fight it.

Now that we have them spread out we are really letting them have it. The poorly equipped and underfed Chinese Reds are finding out what it means to go up against superior and well-trained forces. Reports from Hong Kong tend to bear out the heavy casualties we are supposed to have inflicted. Hospitals throughout China are said to be piling up with wounded soldiers.

Wait and See But before making any final appraisal of the current situation it will be well to wait and see what the Reds do next. After their first savage attack on our forces last November, the Chinese Communists resorted to mystifying military conduct. They struck sudden blows across the Yalu River and while the advantage was still theirs they pulled back and retreated to Manchuria. It was merely a tricky prelude to what was to follow, for they later struck with a full-fledged offensive.

They may be up to some more of their tricky business again, but the evidence indicates that they are paying a heavy price for their folly. Peiping cannot afford to go on suffering the staggering casualties we have inflicted during the past month.

Soon Chiang Kai-shek would be able to move in with his well-trained army of 500,000 men from Formosa and clean up the Chinese mess for us. It will be interesting to watch developments for the next 30 days.

The Property Levy

The Editors: I have noted with interest the editorial relative to the State withdrawing from the property tax field, and your comment "Are the counties so lacking in courage that they fear to levy just taxes?"

I feel quite sure that the county assessors quite generally are possessed of as much courage as those employed by the State, and are equally as competent to levy just taxes if they had the tools which the State has and which the counties would not have if the State withdrew entirely from the property tax field.

As an illustration, the State issues automobile tags (not the counties) and furnishes the assessors in each county with a list of the names and addresses of everyone who owns a car, showing the make and year model. Were it not for this information the local assessors would assess only such cars as were voluntarily returned by the owners, and the many thousands which the owners failed to return would go tax free.

Another illustration: The State issues licenses to corporations to do business in the State and has the power, which it exercises, to require these corporations to furnish annually a financial statement, copies of which are furnished the local assessors from which they can intelligently assess their property for taxes.

The State's five-mill tax has yielded about $6,000,000 per year. If it was reduced to one mill it would still yield about $1,200,000.

No Mild Palliatives

The Editors: American public opinion should be alerted to the outrageous encroachments of statism on the lives and liberties of the individual citizen. Consider the income tax with its inquisitorial abominations and shocking inequities in administration, its tagging, branding and regimentation and hit-and-miss harassments and its horrible waste, loopholes and bungling inefficiency.

Millions of people in the world today are in the throes of conflict between free humanity in nature and man-made governmental repression and dictation, with all its brutalities, vulgarities and excesses.

Congress should forthwith—even at cost of political composure—renounce Atlantic Pact and membership in United Nations, repudiate and abrogate Roosevelt's and Truman's foreign diplomatic and political commitments, outlaw third terms, forbid giving by government, limit taxing power, define public welfare clause, outlaw group preferences, curb executive power and action, reaffirm constitutional primacy, resume Congressional function and duty and reactivate Congressional power and authority.

Venal judges should be removed and Frankfurter should be reprimanded or impeached.

We have too long been pushed around by pseudo-intellectual bigots, meddlers and adventurers posing as humanitarian reformers, sycophant industrialists seduced by preferences and handouts, foreign political bums and castaways masquerading as statesmen and ignorant demagogues running errands for the organization.

We are victims of arrogant, power-inflated administrative bureaucracy, morbid and monstrous governmentalism and a general public apathy and lack of honest information of the source and nature of the woes that beset the country and what to do and how to act in season of political stress, crisis and transition.

But, of this be certain: the time for timid and fraudulent palliatives is past.

'Dictatorship'

The Editors: We parents of young boys had better write our Congressmen and Senators soon and often, opposing universal military training, or say good-by to any decent future for these boys!

This great howl for UMT right now is a trick by professional militarists and power-mad politicians to get cheap manpower for their "European" army of American youngsters! How many of you read or heard how Eisenhower proposes to pay them a "nominal" sum, something like $10 a month?

Anyone but a fool can see the diabolical scheme he and Truman are weaving under cover of a war scare! England and France are more socialist and Communist now—after five years of our free gifts—than ever! They are now wanting our boys over there again to do their fighting for them!

France "sold out" her soldiers to Hitler in a matter of weeks. With Communists in her government, how can we make them fight Russia? England is no better!

The more dictatorship we stand for now the more hopeless our chance to be free ever again! UMT is dictatorship!

"And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."—Luke 12:15.

In "Winds of Doctrine" George Santayana has broached the indictment that for the most part we measure progress in terms of quantity rather than quality.

He contends that it matters not so much how many people can read and write nor how much their trade is valued, that of greater concern should be the reading and writing of fewer and better things and of being fewer and better folk, striving to enjoy life more.

What other lesson is half so vital? At all costs let us learn it, trusting the processes of inner enrichment more than bulk and material abundance.

THOU, O GOD, ART our security, our hope, our joy. Prepare us in spirit to thrill to the pageantry of earth and of heaven.

Poor Man's Beer, Rich Man's Oil

WASHINGTON—This seems a fair question: If Congress is going to tax the poor man's beer to help pay for our common defense program, why doesn't it tax the rich man's oil? It answers itself—if you know Congress. Oil occupies a privileged position here. It speaks louder to many of your Representatives than you do. It has influence in key posts of power. It has the single most effective lobby operating here. That often cows mere Congressmen. Oil doesn't bother about party lines. It gets allegiance on both sides of the aisle. The oil tax issue is embodied in a provision of our tax laws permitting oil companies to write off 27½ per cent of their gross income before they begin to figure their taxes—a "depletion allowance." In your language, it is a deduction. It is, in its effect, a subsidy, too.

When Secretary of Treasury Snyder was explaining to the House Ways and Means Committee the Administration's proposed $10,000,000,000 defense tax bill which cuts so deeply into low incomes, he suggested also that "several hundred million dollars" could be raised by reducing the oil depletion allowance from 27½ to 15 per cent.

This was a recommendation, not for the current bill, but for a "second bite" tax measure planned later. There is general agreement in Congress, in the interest of speed on the present bill, to defer the oil tax and other "controversial" issues.

Sec. Snyder knows what he's up against in the oil tax proposal. He recommended it to Congress last year and got snubbed. When you go around the Capitol asking members of Congress about the prospects, they shake their heads and tell you privately that oil is too powerful. They explain, too, that this is not a simple issue. And it isn't.

Oil has a case for some allowance. Other venture enterprises get allowances. There are necessary risks in prospecting for oil, finding new wells, for often you go to the expense of drilling and get no oil. Likewise, when the oil in a field is exhausted, that's all there is. That winds up that particular business.

The allowance is to cover the risks and the depletion of wells, and is also in the nature of an incentive to discover new wells. Some allowance is justified. But members of Congress who have spent years in study of taxation tell you the present allowance is excessive, which is what the Treasury Department also holds on the basis of its investigations.

The big companies certainly could, and should, pay more if taxation is to be fair and equitable to finance a defense program in which all are supposed to sacrifice.

Why is oil so powerful here? First, there is its lobby. That includes not only the industry itself and affiliated interests, but ramifies out to filling-station owners and operators, automobile clubs and the like. It is highly organized.

In the second place, when the lobby goes into action it finds friends in very influential posts in Congress. For example, Texas, one of the big oil States, has the Speaker of the House, Rep. Sam Rayburn, and the assistant leader of the Senate, Lyndon Johnson. Texas is represented on the powerful Senate Finance Committee, which handles tax legislation in that body, by Sen. Tom Connally. Oklahoma, another big oil State, is represented on that committee by Sen. Robert S. Kerr, himself a big oil man, a powerful behind-the-scenes figure in Democratic Party affairs here in Congress. There are others friendly to oil who are highly placed.

These are facts of life about your "public" servants.

The Mitty Makes Port

FERNANDINA, Fla.—Don't tell anyone, but the good ship Mitty finally arrived here. The good ship Mitty, you will recall (I hope), was our home and conveyance during the history-making voyage from New York to Norfolk last October. Yes, Madame Secretary and Capt. Bob Ferguson and your humble servant started with her from Bay Head, N. J., on Oct. 13 and fetched up at Great Bridge, Va., on Oct. 24. (Harold Martin has another version of it, but no one believes Martin, anyway!)

So the Mitty is here, but she didn't arrive in the leisurely fashion usually associated with sailing craft. Not the Mitty, she doesn't do things in an orderly way. She is the unpredictable, unorthodox, irrepressible, . . . I was about to say "unknowable."

Coerced She let herself be coerced down the Inland Waterway from South Dartmouth, Mass., to Fernandina, Fla., but she took her time about it. One lap from Buzzard's Bay to Bay Head, N. J. Another lap from Bay Head to Norfolk. Another from Norfolk to Myrtle Beach and the last from Myrtle Beach to Fernandina.

But she's here now and her work is cut out for her. She's to ply between the Ferguson farm on the Florida side of the St. Mary's River and Cumberland Island. She will provide living quarters as well as transportation. The distance by water is a scant 10 miles and the distance by land is about 30 miles, plus the water trip from Cumberland Island to Fernandina, which is about eight miles.

It is possible that the Mitty is the first boat in coastal history to be used as a farmstead. At her dock at Cockleburr Farm she will be headquarters and living quarters for the farming operation and the directing personnel.

Supply House She will be the supply house, too, and will barge the guano, seed, salt and additional farm and livestock supplies to and from the farm.

Come to think of it, she will be communications, transportation, office, home and general headquarters for a farm. As well as a source of sailing and fishing pleasure. On the way from the island to the farm the crew could troll for bass and thus gather their dinners as they go along.

CALVIN COX

There'll Be a Tomorrow

If Georgia's possible expenditure in the next fiscal year—anywhere from $175,000,000 to maybe $190,000,000, depending on the sales tax—occasionally brings pangs of alarm, one has only to consider the national budget to realize that the State sum is rather insignificant. Illustrating the vastness of the national expenditure, it would be quite correct for some "Believe It or Not" of the future to state: "Government spending in the United States for the fiscal year 1951-52 consisted of such a large sum that if it were represented by dollar bills laid end to end, the bills would stretch to the moon and back 35 times." Under the pay-as-we-go program, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder this week outlined to Congress his plans for collecting $10,000,000,000 in new taxes this year, to be followed soon by another program calculated to bring in an additional $6,500,000,000, or a total of $16,500,000,000 in new taxes.

Georgia's share in this added-tax program would be $330,000,000, on a per capita basis. Naturally, that much money won't be supplied by the State's citizens, for excise taxes and corporation taxes won't take as heavy a bite here as they will in areas where industrialization and buying power are greater.

Republicans clamoring for a reduction in nondefense spending on the national front estimate that on the basis of contractual obligations national expenditures in the next fiscal year will amount to nearly $100,000,000,000. This figure is at considerable variance with the "true" budget presented by President Truman. This budget totals $71,600,000,000. Democrats, too, are asking that nondefense spending be curtailed as much as possible, but for the sake of an extreme, let us say that the Republicans are only $10,000,000,000 off on their estimates of 1951-52 spending, and place the sum, with contractual authority, at $90,000,000,000.

On the basis of a $90,000,000,000 expenditure, Georgia's share on a per capita basis would be $1,800,000,000. This lacks only a few hundred million of being the equal of all retail sales in the State in the period of a year. Once again, however, it must be remembered that earning power in Georgia is considerably below that in more favored sections of the country, so the State really won't be tagged for $1,800,000,000 as its contribution to the national budget. Nevertheless, the exact sum will be considerable.

The cost of running the national government in a world in which it must be strongly on guard involves such huge sums it defies contemplation in trying to translate the cost to individual citizens.

Yet, if zeros were placed on the end of figures until they ran off this page, there would be no way one could place money in balance with the human lives at stake in the conflict of democracy and Communism.

The United States has been described as the core of freedom in a world already largely overrun by the forces of slavery. It is going to take mobilization of all our resources to keep this country free, so people realize vast national spending for defense is necessary.

The problem is to use the national industrial and its potential of wealth in a manner which will carry for a long time the load of defense without cracking the economy. That is why many Congressmen and businessmen are interested in seeing that the budget does not include spending for items which aren't absolutely essential. Nevertheless, care must be taken that funds are not denied endeavors essential though seemingly removed from the immediate bulwarking of our defenses.

Foremost in this category would be the schools. The nation cannot afford to fail to nurture the institutions which give value to the lives of our future citizens. The children in school today will have a tremendous responsibility when they attain full citizenship. Our stake in the future is no less than our stake in the present. In translating our potential of today into armed might for our safety, we must remember there will be a tomorrow when intelligence and training and responsibility will be our armament in a world which still will be filled with problems, even when the last gun has sounded and the last plane has carried its cargo of doom.

JEST FOR TODAY

An American sentry and a Russian sentry were standing guard at a German zonal border. The American looked at his watch.

"Only 15 minutes until I'm relieved," he said. "Thank God."

The Russian said, "In a quarter of an hour I'll be relieved, too. Thank Stalin!"

The American was startled. "That's a funny thing to say. What would you say if Stalin were dead?"

"Thank God!" said the Russian.

He'd Better Be Prepared

WASHINGTON—The time has come to consider the war between the sexes, U. S. Government division. Or what have the Federals got against the females? This ever-exciting subject came up when George J. Schoeneman, the demon tax collector, appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee to explain how he intended to pry from the people that extra $10,000,000,000 President Truman wants. The atmosphere immediately turned soapy. Rep. Carl T. Curtis, the happily married Republican of Minden, Neb., who rapidly is losing his hair, expressed a surprising interest in shampoo. Turns out that Mr. Truman intends to collect 20 per cent excises on all shampoos that contain five per cent or more of soap.

"How are you going to tax one kind of soap and not another?" he demanded.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Schoeneman, a large, gray-haired gentleman with an eagle eye such as to make even an honest taxpayer tremble, said it was for Congress to pass the laws; he merely tried to enforce them.

Rep. Curtis passed his hand across what hair he had left and continued relentlessly: "Now certainly a clean scalp is not a luxury, is it?"

Schoeneman said he was just a tax collector; no expert on scalps.

"Well, the Secretary of the Treasury thinks he can collect $3,000,000 a year, taxing shampoos," Rep. Curtis insisted. And some people use one thing to wash their hair, if any, and some another. And who's to say what kind of soap is shampoo, and what kind isn't?

"So it looks to me as though we'll be taxing all soaps," he said, "and thus taxing cleanliness."

The Commissioner, who obviously had a fresh shave, shampoo, and haircut, squirmed, but said nothing. This was a mistake. The Congressman from Nebraska took advantage of the pause.

"Who is down at the Treasury that has it in for women?" he asked.

Commissioner Schoeneman said he always understood the Treasury Department had the highest regard and greatest admiration for the ladies.

"But you tax practically everything a woman must buy," Rep. Curtis retorted. "You must have it in for women. You know as well as I do that women's clothes are not designed for pockets. So she has to use a purse and you tax that. You tax her household equipment. Now this shampoo thing is another tax on women."

"Uh . . ." began Schoeneman. Rep. Curtis interrupted. "There must be some particular drive against women down there at the Treasury Department," he said.

The Commissioner, a Federal worker since 1920, took refuge in one of the most useful phases of the bureaucrat. "I am not prepared to discuss subjects of this kind," he replied.

That's what he thinks. He's a married man, too. It is my guess that he discusses taxes on ladies tonight when he gets home. Discusses is not the proper word. He'll be listening.

JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

The Mobilizer Can Dispel the Doubt

WASHINGTON—It is too bad that in these troubled times, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson cannot be regularly exhibited to selected guided tours. During the mornings, perhaps, groups of the more defeatist politicians and Government officials might alternate with parties of worried Allies and of the narrower sort of businessmen; while larger troops of ordinary voters could be admitted in the afternoons.

The mere spectacle of this huge, raw-boned, red-faced, ham-fisted man is in itself reassuring. There is something natural and simple and powerful about Wilson that must strike even the sort of politician who normally has eyes only for the main chance. And if Wilson would talk for a bit in his plain unvarnished way about America and what America can do, the doubt and defeatism in which most people clammily wallow nowadays would be suddenly dispelled, like smog shredding away before a gust of good air.

What manner of man Charles Wilson may be is now a vitally important question, since he is, in his own person, the national device for making up for criminally lost time. In the Government, the seismic shocks resulting from the Defense Mobilizer's enormous new powers over production, manpower, wages, prices, raw materials, housing and research can already be observed in the miffed expressions of Cabinet members whose new boss he has in fact become. In the country, his effort will probably be little noticed until the man in the streets feels the inevitably unpleasant first effects, in the form of shortages, labor dislocations and the like.

"The worst problem I've got," Wilson says himself, "is that we have to take wartime measures in peacetime, when people aren't ready for them."

But this national unawareness is, of course, the penalty for having to make up for lost time. Wilson's task, as he conceives it, is to rebuild the dismantled defenses of the United States and the Western World in the shortest possible interval, thus reducing to a minimum the unavoidable time of danger when a weak Western defense invites Soviet aggression. For a while, because the task of defense has been put off for so long, measures that would normally be taken only in wartime must be adopted in what passes for peacetime. It does not bother Wilson.

"If I thought I could get the job done any faster," he says, "I'd just ask for whatever I needed to do it. In this business, it's the country you've got to think about."

The job he has set for himself is nothing less than a permanent expansion of American productivity of between 15 and 25 per cent. There were three approaches he could choose from when he was named Defense Mobilizer. The first was business-as-usual, which meant not getting the job done at all. The second was going onto a full war basis, which meant turning the whole economy upside down to achieve the flood of production needed for a shooting war; and then seeing a great mass of obsolescent weapons pile up and the economy go into a nose dive if war did not come.

These approaches he has rejected, in favor of the more imaginative one of permanently lifting the whole national economy to an entirely new level, at which enough will be produced to satisfy all defense needs short of all-out war, and to maintain the present American living standard at the same time. He figures that if the country accepts temporary controls, if the Congress goes along on stiff taxes and credit restrictions to prevent swelling civilian consumption, and if business and labor co-operate, it will take about 18 months.

"The orders are going in now," he explains. "Pretty soon, the bad time will begin, when the controls pinch and there are dislocations. But in around a year and a half, even the long lead defense items ought to be coming off the production line so fast they'll need the state of Texas to store them in."

It sounds simple when he says it. You even feel it will be easy when he remarks, for instance, that the war potential of American industry, having already been doubled and tripled and quintupled between 1940 and 1945, has invisibly increased by another 50 per cent between 1945 and 1950.

In fact, of course, there will be nothing easy or simple about this business of increasing the already immense productivity of the United States to make comfortable room for a huge defense output. Wilson will have plenty of headaches, and will be on the receiving end of plenty of brickbats, before the task is finished. But, after a good many years as a legendary captain of industry, he still retains the toughness of Hell's Kitchen, where he began life; he has faith in America, and he knows his work. If Wilson cannot do the job, nobody can.

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY:

Notable Service To Journalism

In The Waycross Journal-Herald

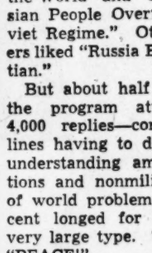
W. F. Caldwell, who has ably headed the Atlanta Bureau of the Associated Press for 25 years, will retire in April. While he is still on the job we wish to express our deepest appreciation for the service he has rendered to the Georgia press.

Men of integrity and character like W. F. Caldwell have made the Associated Press the great organization that it is today.

The Journal-Herald joins other newspapers which have been associated with the Atlanta Bureau chief for more than two decades in extending to Mr. Caldwell our gratitude as he ends a career of notable service in the field of journalism.

BOB CONSIDINE

The People Write the 'Heads'



NEW YORK. What worries you at the present time? What headline would you like to see in your newspaper tomorrow.

Those two questions were asked on the radio program named "Town Meeting on the Air" late last month, and the bulk of the mail is in. In the regard to their worries, about 75 per cent of the letter writers indicated that they worried most about the lack of moral and ethical security, lack of leadership in Washington, and lack of a clear definition of national goals.

They were less concerned about their financial status.

SOME 42 PER CENT stressed this worry: imminence of war. Only 18 per cent of the letters brought in the question of economic security. Five per cent worried about being drafted, or having an 18-year-old son or other member of the family drafted.

Cancer and Communism concerned two per cent of the writers, and a shade under that percentage felt the country was losing its democratic principles.

There were such heads as "Russia Blasted Off the Face of the World" and "Oppressed Russian People Overthrow the Soviet Regime." Other headwriters liked "Russia Becomes Christian."

But about half the writers—the program attracted about 4,000 replies—composed headlines having to do with a new understanding among the nations and nonmilitary solutions of world problems. Thirty per cent longed for one word, in very large type. The word was "PEACE!"

Fifteen per cent longed for violent solutions to today's menaces: "Stalin Assassinated." And a slightly smaller percentage put it on the broader scale of "Russia Wiped Out." Nine per cent hoped for successful negotiations within the UN, along such lines as "Russia Reconsiders, Drops Iron Curtain."

One guy liked "Stalin and His Aides Crash in Plane on Way to Attend Mao Tse-tung's Funeral," and more than one wanted to read "A-Bomb Dropped on Moscow." Another suggestion, along more passive lines: "Stalin Invites Msgr. Sheen to Moscow."

SENATOR SOAPER

BEST-KEPT of all trade secrets, over the years, is what becomes of the stronger, hotter, naturally coarser tobacco.

THE WILY prospect will hold a little sales resistance in reserve, for that moment when the slick operator changes his pitch to "I tell you what I'll do—"

IT COSTS TWICE AS MUCH TO DRIVE A CAR TODAY AS IT DID 10 YEARS AGO

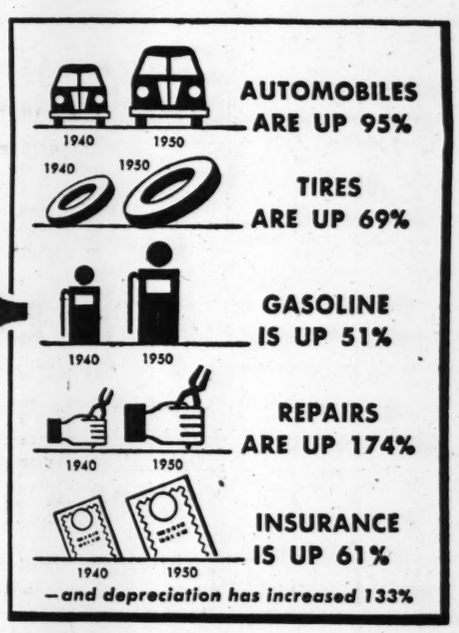
Fleet-car owners—thriftiest of all car operators—say it costs twice as much to drive a car today as it did 10 years ago. Six cents a mile compared with three!

It probably costs you more, because everything they buy—from automobiles to repair parts—are bought at lower prices than you pay.

But even at six cents a mile—if you live five miles from town, it costs a good $1.00 to make the round trip, including parking at 40 cents.

Simple arithmetic will tell you that, in this case, you can save 80% by riding a bus or trolley.

The next time you drive to town, check your mileage and parking costs and see how much you can save.



OUR COSTS HAVE DOUBLED, TOO!

Just as your costs have gone up, so have ours. Today it costs twice as much to operate buses and trolleys as it did 10 years ago.

Since June, 1950—when the Korean War started and we bought Atlanta's transportation system—prices for nearly everything we buy have shot up. Tires are up 26%. Repair parts are up 10%. Copper wire is up 25%. Rubber is up 188%. Cotton 22%. All since June, 1950.

This makes your trolley ride a bigger bargain than ever

You can still ride a bus or trolley for the same 10-cent cash fare that you paid in 1940. Tokens and other fares are the same as they were almost two years ago.

With the cost of driving a car double what it was 10 years ago, your bus or trolley ride is a bigger bargain than ever.

Polio March Total Now Tops $50,000

Fulton and DeKalb's "Mothers' March on Polio" conducted Jan. 31, collected more than $50,000, Jack J. McDonough, Fifth District March of Dimes chairman, announced Wednesday.

McDonough said $45,119.03 was collected in Fulton and about $5,000 in DeKalb outside Atlanta.

Mrs. J. M. Heiskell, Northside High School, $5,828; Mrs. Wm. Hart, North Fulton High School, $7,000; Mrs. Ray Olds, N. E. Atlanta, $6,000; Mrs. T. R. Wofford, S. W. Atlanta, $6,000; Mrs. Chas. Leftwich, S. W. Fulton, $2,476; Mrs. J. H. George, N. W. Fulton, $1,146.

Mrs. J. R. Askew, Ben Hill, $200; Mrs. J. W. Smith, S. W. High School, $1,940; Mrs. P. A. Cofer, Techwood and Clark Howell School, $358; Mrs. Clyde Smith, S. E. Atlanta, $1,753; Mrs. M. Clark, East Point, $2,800; Mrs. P. H. Florence, College Park, $1,800.

Mrs. W. C. Dameron, Hapeville, $1,600; Mrs. Lillian Warbington, Fulton County Negro District, $556.42; Miss Ella Ttate, Atlanta Negro District, $818.98; Mrs. W. H. Alday, Atlanta in DeKalb, $3,600; Mrs. E. W. Quinn, Home Park School, $468.93; Mrs. T. E. Humphries, Couch School, $203.70.

Stove Blast, Fire Kill 7

MARKS, Miss., Feb. 7—(AP)—Seven persons, six of them young children, were fatally burned in an explosion and fire that started in a farmhouse near here Tuesday after a housewife sloshed kerosene into a wood stove.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Turner said Mrs. J. B. Rogers threw kerosene in the stove to get green wood to burn. He said an explosion followed, "spraying fire and coal oil all over the room."

3 Children Killed In Kerosene Blast

EMMITSBURG, Md., Feb. 7—(AP)—Three young children died Tuesday night after a can of kerosene blew up in the kitchen of their home near here.

The mother and three other children were burned and one of them was in critical condition Wednesday.

Six-year-old Alice Louise Springer died at Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, Pa., soon after the blast. Donald, 10, and John, seven, died at the hospital during the night. Gary Springer, three, was in critical condition.

U. S. Zone Property Returned to Germans

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 7—(AP)—More than 7,000 pieces of property used by American forces in the U. S. Zone of Germany have been returned to the Germans, U. S. Army authorities said Wednesday.

Installations given back include those owned by both civic and private enterprise and ranged from hotels to sports fields and from hospitals to huge apartment blocks, the Army said.

2 Post $300 Bonds On Liquor Charges

Two Georgians, charged with violation of the Internal Revenue liquor laws, made $300 bonds before U. S. Commissioner Frank Holden Wednesday.

They were listed as Cora Green Rogers, of P. O. Box 193, Marietta, and Ernest Boone, of Vinings. Both were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury last Fall along with several others on charges of Internal Revenue liquor law violations.

Veins Carry Bullet To Heart, Boy Dies

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7—(AP)—A high school youth who was accidentally shot in the right thigh died Tuesday night with the bullet lodged near his heart.

Doctors said it worked its way there through his veins. They added that the circumstances were rare but that the case was not the first of its kind.

The victim was Joseph Rothman, 17. He died while undergoing surgery for removal of the .22-caliber slug.

Rothman was wounded Dec. 29 when the bullet ricocheted from the floor while he was target practicing in the basement of his home.

School Lunch Program Guide To Proper Food for Child

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

Is your youngster one of the thousands who come home to lunch every day? If so, how do the meals you feed him rate nutrition-wise?

A good yardstick to judge your meals by is the plan of the Federal School Lunch program. It is a "pattern" that assures a complete, well-rounded lunch.

An adequate lunch for a school child must include: One serving meat, fish, eggs, cheese, dry beans, peas or soybeans, or peanut butter; two vegetables or one vegetable and one fruit; 2 slices enriched or whole grain bread with 2 teaspoons butter or margarine; and at least ½ pint milk. If the child wants it, add a simple dessert.

Do the lunches you prepare come up to the high standard set by the School Lunch Program? Plenty of thought goes into planning school lunches. Pleasing combinations of color, texture and flavor are carefully worked out. Repetition of color is dull and unexciting.

So simple, when you think about it, to serve whole wheat bread with potatoes and enriched white bread with colorful vegetables. Texture and consistency is something children don't overlook.

While they aren't very fond of gooey white sauces, they thoroughly enjoy the soft firm texture of baked custards, and especially bread puddings with a custard sauce. Flavor combinations play tricky games, too.

A meal of all mild-flavored foods or strong flavored foods lacks zest and appetite appeal. But jumble the flavors and you'll get a different response.

A jumble of more than the flavors is a good idea, too. For instance, don't make a habit of serving the same food the same day every week, or else young grammar graders will lose interest. Vary the way you serve the same foods, too. A simple topping of bread crumbs on vegetables is as good as a new dish.

Family-Life Conference Opens Here Thursday

In the light of today's headlines, when every family is being forced to re-elevate its needs in a war-threatened world, many family groups will find answers to their most urgent questions this week at the Third Georgia Conference on Family Life, which is open to the public.

Meeting the needs of the family today—social, physical, emotional and spiritual—is the theme of the conference, which opens Thursday at 8 p. m., at the City Auditorium and will last until noon Saturday.

Highlighting the conference will be two talks by Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, motion study expert. Her talk Thursday at 8 p. m. will be on "The Family at the Mid-Century," and Friday at 8 p. m. she will speak on the "Importance of Family Citizenship in a Democracy."

Sharing the spotlight with Dr. Gilbreth Friday night will be Dr. Winston La Barre, professor of anthropology at Duke University, who will speak on "The Anthropologist Looks at the Family."

Stressing the fact that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath, La Barre believes that it is "perfectly clear to every thoughtful and socially responsible individual that our difficulties are many times failures and inadequacies of institutions and not of human beings." This view will characterize his talk.

Social needs of the family will be treated by Dr. Allen D. Albert of the sociology department at Emory University Friday at 9:30 a. m.

Stressing the loss of solidarity within the family group occasioned by the urban movement, Dr. Albert will point out ways in which the individual and the institution can bind the family more closely together as a closely knit group which works together for the whole.

Spiritual needs of the family will be discussed by Dr. Zach Henderson, president of Georgia State Teachers College.

Dr. Henderson names, as the family's four deepest spiritual needs, the need to respect human beings as persons, the need for clean and upright living as the happiest way of life, the need for worship, and the need for faith.

Other talks scheduled Friday morning are "The Physical Need of Families Today," by Dr. Enoch Calloway, head of Georgia Cancer Society, and "The Emotional Needs of Families Today," by Dr. Florence Young, of the psychology department of the University of Georgia.

Scheduled Friday afternoon are panel-discussion groups devoted to the needs of the family in health, religious life, education, recreation, economics and management, housing, welfare, inter-personal relationships, the family in the community and legislation for the family. Mrs. Agnes Reasor Olmstead, editor of the Home and Family department of the Atlanta Constitution, is a panel member.

Saturday morning's program will include a symposium of high lights from the Mid-Century White House Conference led by Mrs. Ralph Hobbs and Georgia Delegates to the Conference. There will also be talks on "What Lies Ahead for Family Life," by Dr. La Barre, who will discuss the urban family life, and by Mrs. Lydia Lynde, extension specialist for the parent education and family life for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who will discuss rural family life.

Mrs. Lynde's discussion will deal with the new elasticity of the once closely knit rural family, brought on by modern transportation and consolidated schools.

"The farm family is trying to provide opportunities for the developing and socializing experience their children and young people need," says Mrs. Lynde. "This requires more careful planning of the farm program in terms of the human resources, time, energy, output, skill and knowledge.

"Expanding individual and family life.
careful planning and a strengthening of the work-togetherness of the family," she adds.

Climaxing the conference will be a talk by Morris Abram, local lawyer, who will discuss what Georgia can do to meet the needs of its families.

Taking his discussion from specific suggestions of panel groups, Abram will also discuss what he believes to be one of the deepest needs of the Georgia families—equality of social service.

"The status of one third of Georgia's children depresses the status of the other two thirds," says Abram. "All children should be offered the same opportunities so every family can be better taken care of. Social services to all should be equal. The laws provide these things, but administrations do not always live up to the law."

LET'S SEE NOW

Hey, Over There! Ted's a Dream Man

By DORIS LOCKERMAN

For whatever it means to the folks in Tokyo, Sgt. Theodore Walton Knight of the 25th Artillery, stationed over yonder, is the Dream Man of Georgia State College for Women.

He was chosen by a vote of all the girl students last week from a picture submitted in a contest by his friend, Miss Ann Gatewood, Cartersville, Ga., who is Vice President of Student Government at GSCW.

Sgt. Knight

Sgt. Knight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Knight, 244 East Lake Drive, S. E., have advised the girls at GSCW that their Dream Man is currently visiting old family friends, Lieut. Col. J. G. and Mrs. Morris, and their son, Johnny, 3, in Tokyo, until he gets a call to sterner duty.

Col. Morris was formerly associated with the Tax Receiver's office in Atlanta. Little Johnny, they say, was delighted to see Sgt. Knight because, he said, "Now we can play football. Nobody in this country knows anything to do with a ball but throw it!"

Incidentally, Mrs. Knight is shuttling a familiar wooden box back and forth between herself and her son, taking up a pattern they set in the last war when Sgt. Knight served in the Army of Occupation in Germany. He sent the box to her full of art objects, and she returned it to him with edible art objects like chocolate and coffee. It made the trip back and forth several times, and is now on the move again, bound for Japan.

Who Is Which

The idea of having an identical twin has intrigued many lazy people for a long time. Having a fresh recruit to pull into reception lines or walk in parades or take the children to the zoo has always seemed like a fine bonus that ought to be made more general.

Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Wright

Hollywood does it with money, of course, hiring the stand-in to jump over crevasses or leap into dangerous frays at command, and for a sum.

It is rare a double appears at the grocery store and stares one in the face, as if looking into a mirror, but it has happened in Brookhaven.

Mrs. E. D. Allen, 1517 Fernwood, and Mrs. Clyde Wright, 115 Briarwood, look so much alike their neighbors cannot tell them apart. They are the same size, share Jan. 16 as a birthday, have blue eyes, curly hair, and even buy the same hats and dresses, though they shop separately.

They almost invariably select the same food in the store, worry about the same things and even walk and talk alike.

Their husbands, of course, say it's no trick to tell them apart. Mrs. Allen wears spectacles.

Menu Hints

When you expect guests with children, why not put breakables away. Then you won't embarrass everybody if the children should touch and drop.

Get things set before the guests arrive. Get out flower vases, canape trays, glasses, etc., so you do not have to rush around performing these chores while the guests are present.

Next time you prepare a tapioca cream dessert for your family, fold a little chocolate sauce or syrup into part of the tapioca, and serve it side by side with some of the plain.

Wash Lampshades

Lampshades of parchment and parchment-like paper can be washed. Use thick warm soapsuds and work quickly.

Pick up some "dry" top suds with a damp (not dripping wet) sponge and wash the shade's outer surface. Wipe the suds off with a soft cloth. Repeat this process on the shade's inner side.

Store Linen Unstarched

Linens which are being stored for any length of time should be washed and stored without adding any starch. Wrapping linens in paper will tend to keep them from becoming yellow.

Teens Need Breakfast

In a recent nation-wide survey it was revealed that far too many teen-agers—67 per cent—are eating inadequate breakfasts; 17 per cent of the girls and 9 per cent of the boys ate no breakfast at all. An adequate breakfast should consist of fruit, cereal, egg, bread and a beverage. It should supply ¼ to 1-3 of the day's food allowance.

Amazing new cream by Harriet Hubbard Ayer works where beauty begins... second-skin deep

$3.50 plus tax

When we are very young the small active cells below the skin surface need no help in retaining the beautifying moisture so necessary to a lovely complexion. As we grow older, these cells grow lazy . . . and let that moisture slip away. Not, however, when you use FORMULAYER . . . new cream by Harriet Hubbard Ayer containing "Ayerogen," an active non-hormone ingredient that helps ward off tell-tale age lines and dryness. Start using FORMULAYER today—for a lovelier complexion.

Mother Sews Unique Gown To Solve Teen Dress Poser

By MAYNITA GERRY

Along with algebraic square roots, irregular French verbs, chemistry formulas and growing pains there comes an age when to appear more than once in the same evening dress is an open admission of being a social drip.

This era in a woman's life is usually heralded by frequent ringing of the telephone, long, low conversations, punctuated by spurts of girlish laughter, followed by moods of depression or exhilaration, which are more significant than any spoken word.

Mothers, ever alert for distress signals on the part of their offspring, have been known, as the warnings became increasingly clear, to begin consulting catalogs on convents in the south of France for Susie, or checking on accommodations at rest homes for themselves.

Mrs. Devereaux McClatchey, Jr., did neither. She enrolled with Miss Frances Mauck, a local sewing teacher, for a group of sewing lessons. As a result young Eve McClatchey's evening gown problem has been reduced at least by half. Instead of pondering which evening dress to wear to which dance, Eve only has to decide which of seven net skirts she will wear with which of two tops. In fact, she can wear all the skirts at once, if she wants too, with far from ill effects.

At the moment, the skirts alternate between red and gray net and when worn together in alternate layers, they create an iridescent look. Each one, which is slightly different in design, with unpressed pleats, fullness over the hips, or gathered all around, is attached to a narrow tape to eliminate bulk around the waist and the net was cut and draped to avoid seams.

The bodice, which repeats the color theme of red and gray (Eve's school colors), is composed of petals of a textured upholstery fabric in gray, faced with red and assembled with welt seams to allow for a faint etching of the red to show. This is attached to a halter of red net. The alternate bodice of red velvet is finished with a cuff neckline.

Of course you realize that there are unlimited possibilities with this designing formula. Additional skirts can be added from time to time in varying fabrics and colors, as well as additional tops. For instance, for a Valentine dance, Mrs. McClatchey plans a white lace bodice to be worn with the red net skirts. Later in the Summer, the red net is expected to give way to a rainbow skirt of pastel nets and by Fall there should be a skirt of black velvet.

In the meantime, Eve's clothing problems have been further simplified. Fittings, the most tedious and time consuming item of dressmaking, are done entirely on a dress form. This form was drawn up to Eve's height and proportions, then fitted with a French tunic of heavy unbleached muslin, with waistline, hipline and a variety of necklines, round V, square, stitched in blue thread. It has detachable arms for fitting garments with sleeves, such as coats and suits, but no head to issue complaints about standing too long, or squeals when pins are stuck in it.

Willi Finds U. S. Women Best Dressed

William Nemerov, more familiarly known as Willi to the women who wear his coats and suits, made the above statement of his own free will and accord and apparently in full possession of all mental faculties.

"I have just returned from several weeks in Europe, where I visited England, France and Italy and, am convinced that the American woman is better dressed on the average than any other woman in the world," Willi observed as he arrived here yesterday for a two-day visit.

Willi

With Willi on his arrival was his current collection of Spring coats and suits, made of both American and European fabrics along the lines he considers best this year. Skirts, according to him, must look stem-slim, but carry a hidden pleat for comfort in walking. Suit jackets are always seemingly simple, but with the good, knowing detail a smart woman demands in her clothes and hiplines are frequently rounded. Willi favors low revers on suits and rounded necklines because they are more flattering as a frame for the face. On the whole, his suit collection is trending to the "distinctively casual" rather than dressy fabrics, such as sheer tweeds, worsteds, sharkskin and, by all means, gabardines.

The majority of his coats are done in pyramid shapes, which he prefers to all other types. Not, he explained, because he is credited with introducing the pyramid to America, but because this shape is practical to be worn over all types of clothes as well as all types of figures. These he does best in sheer ice-cream colored fleeces and stiff ribbed ottoman.

"Designing for the American woman should encompass the best fashion ideas from all over the world," according to Willi. "Because, although the American figure and way of life are completely her own, she has a one-world way of thinking about her clothes, and demands that her dress be as appropriate for Paris, London or Milan as it is in New York or Atlanta.

Furthermore, in designing for the American woman, Willi explained, it is necessary to mix common sense with the fabric and design, thereby achieving a silhouette that is distinctive, and and the same time comfortable and easy to wear—never burdensome for the heavy schedule of her way of life.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER

Eve McClatchey shakes the arm that is partly responsible for her new evening wardrobe. The dress form, known fondly as Eve, Jr., wears bodice of red velvet with red net skirt, which was designed as an alternate for the gray petal bodice Eve is wearing over net skirts in alternate layers of red and gray.

Women Buying More Insurance

By YOLANDE GWIN

The little woman, who used to let her husband or father worry about "all those insurance policies" is the woman who today has the buying power in one of the most important forces in American family finance.

Women today are buying more life insurance than ever before, in fact nearly twice as much as they bought 10 years ago according to Gordon Siefkin, dean of the School of Business Administration at Emory University.

"For the great majority of families," said Dean Siefkin "a program of life insurance is the only practicable way for the bread winner to provide for care of dependents in case of his death. Because creation of an estate through life insurance is a method which each person works out for him or herself and pays for with his or her own efforts—it is the American way of attaining family security."

"One-fifth of the life insurance in force is on lives of women and women are the beneficiaries of at least three-fourths of all death benefits, nearly 60 per cent being paid to widows alone. And the women also receive a sizeable portion of payments to living policy holders."

Dean Siefkin, who spoke Wednesday at two sessions of the Women's Finance Forum of the Citizens and Southern Bank held at the Atlanta Public Library, also pointed out that life insurance programs are something more than programs for insuring benefits to one's survivors. Over half the funds are paid to living policy holders, so it is the saving factor in a setup which is one of the important aspects as far as the family or individual policy holder is concerned.

Big Size Thrifty Buy

Expert Points Ways To Save At Homework

By BETSY LOCHRIDGE

The time and motion studies that increase efficiency in business and industry can be just as valuable time and energy savers if the homemaker will apply them to her own business of running a home.

This is one of the firm beliefs of Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, industrial engineer, mother of the twelve children in "Cheaper By the Dozen," and a pioneer in the improvement of family living where labor saving devices, working surfaces and table heights are concerned.

In town to speak Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Third Conference on Family Life at the city auditorium, Dr. Gilbreth has introduced work processes that reduce both time and effort, kitchen equipment fitted to limited space, and suggested habits of work and activity fitted to the individual family's standards.

As an example of time and motion study applied to the home, Dr. Gilbreth cites the kitchen planned by the New York Heart Association for women with heart condition.

"This kitchen is equally valuable for all housewives who want to save time and energy," says Dr. Gilbreth. "All kitchen equipment is placed at a height to eliminate stretching or bending. Equipment is grouped around the work area in which it will be used. For instance, vegetables and coffee are placed next to the stove and the sink. Everything is placed where it will be used."

"Such an ideal kitchen, designed for maximum efficiency must be planned around the individual homemaker and her needs," says Dr. Gilbreth. "The homemaker should measure herself to determine the ideal height for stove, tables, sink and refrigerator. She should measure to see her arm stretch, in order to place all equipment in a certain work area within easy reach."

"However, the average homemaker, who often has no voice in the planning of her kitchen, but must take one ready-planned, will probably not be able to arrange an ideal time saving set-up. She will find her best solution," declares Dr. Gilbreth, "in a table on wheels, setting up a definite transportation pattern."

If the homemaker is interested in saving herself time and energy by applying the principles of time and motion study to her kitchen, and other facets of homemaking, she must do four things, according to Dr. Gilbreth.

1. She has to be honestly interested in making her job as homemaker more efficient.

2. She must be willing to make principles of time and motion and apply them.

3. She should seek help from the services of the extension department of her local University or from her local newspaper.

4. She should learn from her husband the principles of efficiency and organization that are applied to his business or industry, and discover ways in which she can apply these same principles to her business as homemaker.

Outline Soiled Spots

When washing dark cottons, it's smart to outline with white basting thread the spots that need special attention. This makes them easier to locate when the fabric is wet. Brush soapsuds into soiled spots before washing the entire garment by hand or machine.

Flavor Secrets are a good cook's treasure. And I know one that never fails. Cook with Ac'cent! There's nothing in the world of food like this fine master seasoning. It's a pure vegetable substance (monosodium glutamate) which adds no flavor of its own—yet the way it brings out natural flavors already in food is remarkable. It heightens flavors and holds them so you enjoy a dramatic difference in the taste of almost any food you season with it.

Next time you have hamburgers, try this simple test. Make two identical hamburger patties. Season both as usual but sprinkle one of them with Ac'cent. Fry in separate pans—then taste the amazing difference!

Ac'cent is like no other product on your grocers' shelves. Keep this "third shaker" handy alongside your salt and pepper.

HERE'S A FRESH APPROACH

. . . to breakfast. I've been cooking "Cream of Wheat" for me, in my test kitchen, and I've discovered lots of new ways to serve it. Here's one with a touch of sweet!

Fold a spoonful of thick, whole berry jam into the center of steaming hot "Cream of Wheat". Red jams are prettiest!

Both young and grown-up tastes are satisfied by the good, good flavor and smoothness of "Cream of Wheat". Such a convenient, quick-cooking breakfast, too, for hurrying mothers to serve! Enriched 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is fully digestible after only 5 minutes of boiling . . . and supplies Iron, and Calcium, Phosphorus, Niacin and Vitamin B_1.

The words "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef on the package are registered trade marks of The Cream of Wheat Corporation and Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

I Know Only Two Kinds of gravy: the kind you worry about, and the kind you make with Kitchen Bouquet. Kitchen Bouquet gives gravy a marvelously rich brown color, easily. You'll never again go back to the old uncertain method of pan-browning alone once you've learned this sure secret of appetizing color—and extra-delicious flavor as well. For Kitchen Bouquet's unique blend of 14 choice vegetables, herbs and spices brings out gravy's true meat taste.

No wonder good cooks have cherished Kitchen Bouquet for over 70 years, and still rejoice in its easy, sure way to good gravy. You need only a little Kitchen Bouquet, you know, to make your gravy extra-delicious, extra-rich, extra-brown.

YOUR CROWNING GLORY

. . . really behaves when you wash it with New Wildroot Liquid Cream Shampoo. Whether your hair is thick and unruly, or fine and flyaway, this shampoo containing lanolin leaves it soft, beautifully obedient. Fussy teen-agers go for it in a big way because their hair is so easy to set after a Wildroot shampoo—and curls stay in longer.

New Wildroot Liquid Cream Shampoo is soapless, gloriously sudsy, rinses away completely. It "gleams" your hair—leaves it "squeekie" clean and quick-drying. This is important for children, too. In fact, Wildroot makes a glamour girl of every girl in your family—and you can get it now everywhere for as little as 29¢.

Here's A Boost for all housewives . . . the 2 big extras in Clorox! First—you get really worth-while wash-day help from Clorox. Its gentler bleaching action conserves linens—gives them added protection. Extra-gentle, caustic-free Clorox makes white cottons and linens snowy-white, brightens fast colors, keeps family linens looking beautiful. And, without extra effort on your part, Clorox removes stains, deodorizes, makes linens sanitary.

Your home is hygienically safer and fresh, too, thanks to the second big extra in Clorox—greater disinfecting efficiency. For in routine cleaning, Clorox not only removes stains and deodorizes, it quickly makes household danger zones safer for family health. It disinfects germ centers in kitchen and bathroom and makes porcelain surfaces gleam. To my mind the added health protection which Clorox provides is a big item for any homemaker. Read the label on the bottle to see how many ways Clorox can help you.

How Long since you've had pudding with real old-fashioned butterscotch flavor? Get a package of My-T-Fine Butterscotch Dessert. I know you'll love its creamy goodness and agree with me that it's richer, smoother butterscotch. This ready-mix pudding treat costs only a few cents a package, yet it gives you a whole bowlful to set before your dessert-loving family. You can also use this pudding as yummy pie filling. I recommend My-T-Fine's other delicious flavors, too, for a variety of quick, easy desserts. Enjoy My-T-Fine Chocolate, Vanilla, Nut Chocolate. BISHER

A New Man on Job Out Murphy High Way

The junior member of the football firm of Ivey, Payne and Feher hadn't had the time to hang out his shingle. But he was open for business down in Murphy Valley, the airish flat across the hill and over the creek where Murphy High School tests its football machine.

At the foot of the field, Red Ivey, the head man, was demonstrating the magic of the handoff to a few neophyte War Eagles. Along about what would have been the 50-yard line, Boots Payne worked with a limited number of ends. First in the line of foot traffic was Nick Feher and his first class of high school linemen.

You remember Nick Feher very recently not as the teacher, but the pupil at the University of Georgia. You remember him as a fierce competitor who had no Bulldog superior as a downfield blocker. The San Francisco 49ers remembered him so well from Georgia's hallucinating tie with St. Mary's that they drafted him for professional competition.

Between now and the time the pros call for their hired hands, Nick will decide just where he stands on a career. This was only his second day on station at Murphy, but you might say he was already hooked.

"I'm really having fun out here," he said, sidling over after introducing the guards and tackles to his way of shoulder-blocking. "You go through four years of learning how to do these things yourself, but this is the payoff. You really get a lot of pleasure showing these kids how to do it. I think I'm going to like this."

He Wasn't Sold on the Road

Nick tried life away from football for a while after he got out of school in December. He went on the road as a salesman, but it didn't set very well. "Not for me," he said. "I'm the kind of guy who likes a little home life."

About a month passed before Sid Scarborough, the director of high school athletics in town, came across him in his search for coaching talent. "My wife wired me and I came running. That just suited me fine. I'd always had an idea of getting into the Atlanta high school system, but I honestly never had any hopes of making it."

Professor Feher checked in one afternoon at 2:30. By 3 o'clock, he had his football britches on and was down in the valley meeting his first class. The next day he checked in as a history, science and health instructor at Murphy and the routine was on the way.

"I always thought I'd like this sort of thing, you know, teaching kids how to block and tackle, watching them develop and go off to college. Look at that boy there, second from the end. He's just a freshman coming out for football the first time. He does everything like he's been doing it all his life. He's a natural. He's going to play a lot of football for somebody."

The Dairyman's Son

"There's one thing I would like about it. That's playing beside Homer Hobbs again. We played side by side at Georgia in '47 and he's with the 49ers now. I saw him up in Cleveland after I got out of school and I asked him how he liked it. 'I'm good for 10 more years in this game,' he told me. You know how Homer is, always takes things easy.

"We were playing Furman in '47 and the fellow across from Homer had been giving him a rough time. Homer came back to line up one time and his face was bloody. He ran his hand across his face and looked at me and said, 'Okay, Nick, that did it.' It took a lot to get him mad, but he made that guy pay for his mistake the rest of the day."

Feher comes from the Ohio capital of Georgia football, Youngstown, where Athens was first popularized by Frank Sinkwich. Georgia's critics have an inclination to link all Ohioans and Pennsylvanians to steel mills or coal mines. Here, however, Nick Feher begs to be excused. He's a farm boy.

The Fehers operate a dairy about a mile outside the city limits of Youngstown. They are Hungarian people who settled there several years ago and sent their children into the city for their schooling. Nick became impressed with Georgia when Sinkwich came home to present the football letters to his graduating class in 1943.

"I came down for a tryout and stayed, and it was the smartest thing I ever did. I was lucky to have three great coaches at Georgia, Coach Butts, Coach Jordan and Coach Lumpkin. You've heard people talk about how rough it is at Georgia. It's no rougher there than anywhere else, if the kind of stuff I've run into playing the line is any example. After all, this football is no patty cake business."

Chandler Calls Owners To Miami Beach Meeting

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7—(AP)—Major league club owners were called Wednesday to meet in Miami Beach, Fla., on March 12 to select a commissioner of baseball.

A. B. Chandler, the present commissioner whose contract was not renewed last Dec. 12, issued the call at the request of Will Harridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National Leagues, respectively.

Chandler's seven-year term, for which he is being paid $65,000 annually, does not expire until April 30, 1952.

He still plans to be a candidate to succeed himself, despite the setback last December.

He has campaigned steadily for the 12 votes needed for retention, and claims to have 11 lined up.

His opponents, among them Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cards, and Del Webb of the New York Yankees, have vigerously fought his every move.

Should the club owners decide at the March meeting to name another man to the job, Chandler's contract could be bought.

He would not lose financially, but he likes, and wants, to continue as the big boss of baseball.

George Trautman, head of the miner leagues, has been mentioned as among the men most likely to succeed Chandler, if the Kentuckian again loses out.

Frick also has been named, too, but he said he did not want the job.

He merely said it had been made by the Commissioner, at the request of the presidents of the two major leagues, and that the purpose was "to name a Commissioner of Baseball and act on any other business that might come before it."

Goodloe Plays Here On April 1

By BERT PRATHER

Dynamite Billy Goodloe, long-knocking Valdosta amateur, has been added to the charity golf exhibition line-up scheduled for Sunday, April 1 at North Fulton golf course, it was announced Wednesday by Charlie Johnson of the Buckhead Lodge of Elks.

The announcement of Goodloe's acceptance leaves only two more spots to be filled for the big exhibition, a benefit affair for charities. Slammin' Sam Snead, top man of pro golf and rated by many as the world's finest player today, was signed last Sunday.

Johnson, who is being assisted by Ed Swain, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Buckhead Lodge, and Elk Marshall Mauldin, hopes to complete the foursome by the weekend.

In Goodloe and Snead, the Elks have two of the best golf attractions to show here in many months. Two more famous golfers have been contacted and are expected to accept, Johnson said.

Bulk of the proceeds from this match will be turned over to Aidmore Crippled Children Hospital. The remainder will be given to other Elk charities.

This will mark the second year in a row that Dynamite has played in this exhibition. He teamed with Ben Hogan to beat Atlanta's Tommy Barnes and Columbus' Charlie Harper last year.

Georgia Shades Tech In Final Minutes, 54-53

'Slats' Thomas Hits 16 Points To Invigorate Bulldog Attack

By EDWIN POPE

Sleepy-eyed Dick (Slats) Thomas struck his Georgia Bulldogs awake with five deadly heaves in the second half and led a wild 54-53 victory over Tech Wednesday night.

Georgia slumbered leadwise until Coach Jim Whatley said to heck with that tune and opened the door for Richard. He hit five of 10 shots after intermission and his last one tied the game for the sixth time at 53-53. Joe Jordan clapped the portals shut on Tech with a no-nerve free throw with two minutes to play. Then Jordan and speed pal Zippy Morocco perpetrated a skilful two-man freeze that choked off Tech's final gasps.

That last-ditch digit of Jordan's was an ironic one. It was the only time Georgia led all night.

The nick-of-time resurgence popped Tech's SEC winning bubble at four straight and gave the Bulldogs a 2-1 verdict in this year's series, their 14th triumph in the 42-game series since 1933.

It was made more amazing by the Jackets' maintenance of recent sensational shooting. Tech hit 32.8 percent on field goals, Georgia only 24.4.

Tech's "guests" did not score a field goal until the clock showed five minutes gone and the score showed them behind, 12-1. Georgia bulleted back on distance pitches by Thomas, Jordan and Bill Shain and tied it, 17-17, at 11 minutes. Tech burst back to a 28-25 half-time lead, though, and came back from the recess whaling away just as impressively.

In two minutes, the Jackets built their bulge to 33-26.

Georgia was short on height and precision all evening, but never lacked bounce. The Bulldogs pogoed from an eternal deficit to tie it, 41-41, at 30 minutes, 43-43 at 31 minutes, 45-45 at 36 minutes.

With four minutes to play, brother Silas floated in a free throw to make it 53-51 and furnish Tech with freeze-victory possibilities.

Georgia recovered seconds later. Thomas fired from 25 feet and it was tied, 53-53. Then Jordan was hacked in the melee, made his free one, and Georgia led to stay.

An efficiency expert would tell you Tech really lost on lapses at the foul line. Georgia made 18 of 24 gratis attempts while Tech beamed in only 17 of 29.

By winning, the Bulldogs hiked into a third-place SEC tie with Alabama and Mississippi State, all with 5-4 conference charts. Tech's intra-league mark dropped to 5-5. Georgia has 11-5 overall, Tech, 6-12.

Women Golfers Set Title Dates

Georgia's women golfers will decide their 1951 State championship at Rome's Coosa Country Club June 25-29.

Miss Martha Daniel, Rome's No. 1 golfing lady and president of the Georgia Women's Golf Association, made the announcement Wednesday after clearing the dates with Atlanta's Women's Golf Association and the Coosa Club directors.

Miss Daniel, three times winner of the tournament, will be assisted by handling preliminary tournament details by Burgett Mooney, Jr., well-known Coosa golfer and chairman of the club's tournament committee. Once the tournament gets under way, the gals will take complete charge as usual.

Eileen Stulb, who is now busy getting the scenery set up for her own Augusta Women's Titleholders tournament March 15-18, will be defending champion at Rome. Eileen, one of Georgia's leading feminine golfers for several years, won the title here at Druid Hills Golf Club last year, downing Atlanta's Madge McDonald in the 36-hole finals.

One of the largest fields in the tournament's history competed in the 1950 meet, and since Rome is not too far from Atlanta's hotbed of women's golf, the '51 meet should be equally as successful.

In addition to Miss Daniel, other GWGA officers are: Mrs. L. H. Kelley, Atlanta, vice-president; Frances Rich, Bainbridge, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Hugh Given, Rome, chairman of the tournament committee.

BUTTS APPLAUDS SOPH

Manisera's End Runs 'Best Since Trippi'

By GENE ASHER

ATHENS, Feb. 7—Conrad Manisera, sophomore halfback, looms as Georgia's most dangerous runner on end sweeps since Charlie Trippi was in his heyday.

That's the appraisal made by Coach Wallace Butts after observing Manisera in Georgia Winter drills.

Manisera's blinding speed—he runs the 100 in 9.9—enables him to go all the way once he sweeps past linebackers and sidebacks. He has consistently outraced Bulldog defensive men in intra-squad scrimmages.

Manisera was one of the East's most highly-touted prep athletes. His touchdown jaunts paced Lyndhurst High to two consecutive Class AA State championships. And he was named All-State twice.

After football season, he ran track, winning State titles in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, 440-yard run, and broad jump. His 48.4 time for the 440 is 1.5 better than the Georgia high school record.

The 5-ft. 10-in., 165-pounder was a standout his first year at Georgia. He was one of the few freshmen backs who scored against the varsity in scrimmages. As a sophomore, he could be Georgia's feature attraction.

SHORT NOTES—Jim Strem, sophomore from Marinette, Wis., has been shifted from quarterback to end. . . . End Ed Filipovits and guard Jeff Burgamy were blocking stars of Wednesday's scrimmage. . . . Lauren Hargrove, whose running has been far superior to other right halfback candidates, scored three times and fullbacks Derwent Langley, Joe Sichilone and halfbacks Manisera, Tony Caprara and Tifton's Johnny Lipsey each made several long gains.

Special to The Constitution

Former Auburn athlete Red Lawson, Bullpup coach, presents a hot-shot quintet with nine straight victories and a 14-2 seasonal record.

High men on the well-rounded Georgia outfit are guard Lou (Red) McGee of Washington, Ind., Joe Webb of Atlanta's Brown High, Jack Tarpley of Watkinsville, Marv Satterfield of Canton and Phil Guaraneschelli, Woodmere, N. Y. None has scored less than 151 points in 16 games. McGee has hit 211 for a 13.1 average.

Auburn's first-year men have averaged 70 points per game on a two-man production out of Macon. Inman Veal and Bill Fickling, formerly of Lanier High, are Baby Tiger aces.

$100,000 for DiMag

Yankee Clipper's Signing Is Seen As Spur to Reluctant Mates

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—The New York Yankees Wednesday received their best piece of news since their World Series sweep of the Philadelphia Phils last October in the receipt of the signed contract of Joe DiMaggio, who will play this season for another $100,000.

As per custom, no salary figures were announced but General Manager George Weiss said that the star centerfielder will earn as much as he made in each of the 1949 and 1950 seasons when his salary was a reported $100,000.

DiMaggio's acceptance of terms was interpreted by Weiss as a good sign in more ways than one. He hoped that Joe's action would spur other Yankee regulars, who up to now have shown a reluctance to come into the fold. DiMag is only the fourth Yankee regular to sign for 1951. Non-signers include such stars as Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer, Billy Johnson, Cliff Mapes, Tommy Byrne, Vic Raschi and Joe Page.

The new pact continues DiMaggio as one of the two highest paid players in the history of the game. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is the only other player reportedly earning a salary of six figures. The 36-year-old DiMag's current contract is for one year only and is a straight salary without any bonus clauses.

DiMaggio, reached at his San Francisco home by telephone, said he was "very happy" over his new contract and added that he was in "wonderful" shape.

Grantland RICE

Yankee Philosopher Stengel Is Ready

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 7—In only a few days the inscrutable saturnine, philosophic Casey Stengel leaves for his third year with the Yankees. This time Casey leaves for Phoenix, Ariz., in place of St. Petersburg, Fla. He leaves the Everglades far behind as he camps on the rim of the Western desert.

"I think I'll bill you as the Yankee philosopher in place of the Yankee manager," I said to Casey.

If you are not a philosopher in this game," he said, "you had better quit or jump off a tall building. Take my first year—1949. We had 74 cases of injury, accident, illness, hors de baseball or what not. DiMaggio missed the first 75 games. Henrich got hurt. We got all scrambled up. But we won the pennant on the last day.

"Then last year Big Joe didn't start hitting until the season was half over. Tommy Henrich had a bad knee and couldn't play much. Joe Page couldn't win any more games for us. We couldn't seem to get a steady working first baseman. But we had a fellow named Phil Rizzuto who kept doing pretty well—about as well as Honus Wagner used to do at short. We also had a fellow named Yogi Berra—and we had Vic Raschi, Reynolds, Lopat and Whitey Ford out there throwing a ball pretty well—so we slipped in again."

'There's Already One War'

"What about your third start—your third-year start?" I asked. Casey scratched his graying knob and looked out across the snow-capped peaks of the Sierra Madres.

"There's already one war going on," he said. "There may be another coming. In any case there's a thing called the draft which is much more important than baseball. I never was much good at guessing or prophesying under good conditions. I certainly don't want to buck things this year. We'll be hurt, but maybe not any worse than some others.

"We'll lose good men—but so will the others. I still think we'll hav ea good ball team. So will the Red Sox, Tigers and Indians. Maybe some others. I believe everybody understands the baseball situation as it is today, where we have so many unknown angles that everybody must face.

"This next season will be an interesting pennant race," Casey said. "While we'll all lose good men, we'll all have enough left to play good ball. Our key men are Joe DiMaggio, Rizzuto and Berra, plus a good pitching staff. We have a good outfield.

The Red Sox look better with Scarborough and Wight added to their pitching staff. They have a lot of power. If they get good pitching they can really be tough. Last year Bob Lemon of Cleveland had them beaten 11 to 0 in one game and they still won out. They'll have Ted Williams back this season.

'Cleveland Can Be Better'

"Cleveland can be much better than they were last year," Casey said. "There are two things that make a good ball club. Pitching and hitting. Cleveland has both. They can be much tougher than they were. When you have fellows like Bob Lemon, Luke Easter, Larry Doby, Bobby Feller and that whole outfield to bother with, it's quite a problem.

The Tigers will miss Houtteman, if he doesn't get back. Maybe Trucks will be in shape. They'll need him. But they still have a swell outfield and a pretty good infield.

"It wouldn't surprise me," Casey said, "if we had another race that went right down to the wire. Maybe three clubs would be in it. Then the old breaks would decide it. They decide a lot of things that a lot of people get credit for. I told you two years I had the greatest coaching staff in the country with Bill Dickey, Crosetti and Turner. Now we've added Tommy Henrich to this bunch. Why about all a fellow has to do on this club is sit back and blink."

You don't have to believe this. There's still a wrinkle-faced fellow known as Casey Stengel who has led his team to a pair of the greatest victories in American League history. He has bumped into more than his share of trouble without a squawk.

The point is that Casey Stengel is more of a philosopher than anything else. He is not only baseball smart, but he has the knack of getting around 100 percent in effort from his men. I've never seen finer team spirit on any club than the Yankees have had in their last two pennant drives.

Chamblee Five Upsets Druid Hills

Clarkston, Lithonia Win Girls' Games

By ROSS STEMER

An unheralded Chamblee five sailed from behind in the final quarter and upset highly-favored Druid Hills, 37-34, Wednesday night as first round play continued in the DeKalb County tournament at Southern Tech.

Druid Hills assumed an early lead over Chamblee and was in command until Charlie Webb slipped through for a layup in the fourth quarter. That gave Chamblee a 35-33 bulge. A tight Chamblee defense limited Druid Hills to a mere free throw in the last stanza.

Joyce Barrineau found the range for 23 markers in leading Clarkston's sextet over Chamblee's girls. Clarkston held a 27-15 halftime advantage and was never extended in the last half.

Lquise found the range for most of her markers in the last half as Avondale counted only seven points in the first two quarters.

Two games are listed Thursday night. Druid Hills plays Lithonia's girls at 7:30 and Chamblee meets Tucker in a boys' battle an hour later. As an added attraction, Southern Tech takes on Toccoa.

In the final game of the night, Avondale boys whipped Southwest DeKalb, 42-30.

BULLDOG RECORD SMASHER

Olympic Swim Spot Sought for Cooper

By EDWIN POPE

Yale and Hawaii have no copyright on men who swim like fish. Georgia is humping for an Olympic shot for Catapult Charley Cooper, who already is flattening University free-style records and has unofficially bettered one Southeastern Conference mark.

Cooper is a barrel-thick junior from Augusta. He's the overdrive for Bump Gabrielson's stroking machine which has doubled the score on perennial SEC powers Florida (50-25) and Georgia Tech (51-24).

Here last week against Tech, Coop beat the SEC 100 low of 53.6, set in 1950 by LU's Bob Percy. Charley did it in 53.4. Gabrielson, who coached Gloria Gallen, figures his Catapult will knock it down to 51 seconds by time for Olympic trials.

Cooper went after the SEC 220 mark of 2:18, which belongs to ex-Tech star Johnny Hiles, against Vanderbilt Tuesday night, but missed. He'll shoot to kill in the conference meet in Athens next month.

Travis Tidwell, of Auburn and the New York Giants, is working on his masters at The Plains. People there say Trav can have a big-time sportscasting job any time he takes a notion. Got the verce and background, they say.

Basketball in the Orange Bowl Festival? Louisville Coach Peck Hickman wants it and believes he has talked Miami officials into at least a receptive frame of mind.

And few seem to notice the terrific upswing of wrestling and gymnastics in Dixie colleges. Auburn looks for its fifth straight SEAAU crown in March but Tech Vandy and others are building toward contention. North Carolina is latest to add gymnastics.

Vanderbilt chief Bill Edwards, ordinarily as amiable as you please, has a gripe against Nashville: "Too many good pie-makers." He's up to 230, weighed 200 when he came to Vandy two years ago.

Vanderbilt incidentally, did not even pick an alternate captain when Tackle Bob Werckle was named '51 standard-bearer.

Drawlin' Dan'l Edwards, of Gatesville, Texas, Georgia, Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Hornets, New York Yanks and the all-pro county beats them all. "All you have to do to be a pro," Dan elaborates, "is to live in Coryell County." Detroit's Cloyce Boyce and the Chicago Bears' Bulldog Turner also are from there.

Neale Fired By Eagles, Report Says

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7—(AP). Earle (Greasy) Neale was dismissed Wednesday as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, the Philadelphia Inquirer reported.

The Inquirer said the 59-year-old Neale confirmed he had been notified that he has been relieved of his coaching duties by James P. Clark, Eagles president, in a telephone conversation with Neale at his Lakeland, Fla., home. Clark is one of a syndicate of Philadelphians who purchased the Eagles in 1949.

Neale led the Eagles to two National Football League championships, in 1948 and 1949.

The Inquirer quoted Neale as saying he had been advised he was relieved of his job as head coach and field director of the team, effective immediately. His contract with the club, Neale was quoted was adding, will be honored by the Eagles in another capacity.

Neale signed a three-year contract when the Clark group took over from Alexis Thompson. The contract runs through the 1951 season. Reportedly, it calls for $15,000 annually.

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Earle (Greasy) Neale, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, said Wednesday night he knew nothing about his being dismissed.

Neale said he had not talked with anyone from the Eagles or the Philadelphia Inquirer since he arrived in Lake Worth last Saturday.

U. S. Diving Aces Ready For Pan-Am

ATHENS, Feb. 7—The United States has never lost an Olympic women's diving event and there are two entries in the Pan-American team tryouts here Friday and Saturday who are expected to maintain that record at Helsinki in 1952.

Walt Schleuter, coach of the Chicago Town Club swimmers who has been named head mentor of the United States women's team for the Pan-American games at Buenos Aires late this month, said here Wednesday:

"The 1952 Olympic three-meter women's diving champion very likely will be either Mary Frances Cunningham or Pat McCormick.

Both girls are here for the Pan-American tryouts.

Cunningham, diminutive blonde co-ed at Purdue University, last year outscored McCormick, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, in the National AAU indoor meet. The California girl, however, squared the rivalry in the National outdoor meet.

The nation's outstanding women 100-yard free-stylers of the past two years—indoor champion Marie Corridon, of New York, and outdoor champion Jackie Lavine, of the Chicago Town Club—will have terrific competition.

Barbara Hobelman, of the Ambassador Hotel swimming club in Washington, D. C., and Carolyn Green, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., also are expected to be top contenders in the free-style events.

Louis Chops Argramonte Over Route

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7—(AP)—Joe Louis pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Omelio Agramonte, of Cuba, Wednesday night to clear another roadblock on the comeback trail toward another heavyweight championship fight.

The Brown Bomber, favored to win in four rounds or less, failed to catch the dancing Cuban with a knockout blow, but Agramonte, bleeding from the mouth and left eye, was hanging on desperately as the bell ended the tenth round.

Agramonte's retreating tactics kept him out of trouble for seven rounds, but Joe opened a gash over his eye in the eighth, pounded him hard in the ninth, and had him on the verge of a knockout all through the tenth.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

Flannels

Two perfect colors for Spring . . . a just-right shade of medium grey, and a soft cocoa brown. They're tailored in the inimitable Hart Schaffner & Marx manner, which means better fit, more wear, more good looks for each dollar spent. Three styles; double breasted as shown, two-button patch pocket single breasted, and a three-button single breasted with flap pockets and vented back.

Stocks Sag On Caution Markdowns

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—There was a cautious marking down of prices Wednesday in the stock market together with a display of strength in selected individual issues.

Almost every major group was irregular, but the minus signs predominated in the list as a whole. Something around $2 covered the range of gains or losses with a surprising number of leaders ending within a few cents of the previous close.

There was simply nothing in the news to jar the market into any show of buying or selling strength.

Prices headed upward at the opening Wednesday but selling quickly cut back the gains. The average level of prices sagged until the final four when there was a slight recovery by some leaders.

A great deal of the activity was concentrated in steels, motors and rails, but there were bursts of activity—mostly at rising prices—among a number of individual issues.

BeansLeadGrains To Higher Close

CHICAGO, Feb. 7—(AP)—Soybeans rose to new seasonal high levels on the Board of Trade Wednesday, imparting a firm tone to the rest of the market.

Dealers said much of the firmness in beans was based on a good demand for cash beans. Some buying was attributed to export interests. All contracts sold well above the estimated minimum possible ceiling here of $3.32.

Buying entered old crop wheat deliveries on news President Truman had called in former President Hoover to seek Hoover's support for granting 2,000,000 tons of wheat to India. This would be equivalent to 75,000,000 bushels. The Agriculture Department said the grain should be arriving in Italy by early April.

Corn and rye were a little higher most of the day but oats lagged.

Wheat closed 1 to 2¼ higher, March $2.56⅞, corn was ⅝-¾ higher, March $1.82, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, March 99¼, rye was ½ to 1 cent higher, May $1.82¼, soybeans were 3 to 3½ higher, March $3.39¾, and lard was 23 to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $19.55.

War Plants May Cause Wage Problems Here

By BILL BORING

What's the war going to do to the Atlanta wage structure?

Caught as it is between two of the nation's biggest military operations—the Marietta Lockheed Aircraft Plant and the H-bomb job near Augusta, this city really could get caught in a labor squeeze.

Like during World War II, but perhaps even worse. Remember how Bell Aircraft doled out the money? How laundrymen, milkmen, grocer clerks, insurance collectors, meter readers and all sorts of workers quite their jobs for bigger pay in Marietta?

Bell came into this area with orders to turn out B-29s fast. Under the Walsh-Healey Act the company was obligated to abide by prevailing wages here. The trouble was there was no set of reliable figures for determining the general wage scales in different branches of craftsmanship. As a result, Bell paid what it thought was necessary to get on with bomber manufacture. And that tilted the economic apple cart in this section.

Because, in part, of the fat wartime pay envelopes at Bell, workers from all over the Southeast today have set their sights on Marietta. More than 15,000 persons already have applied for Lockheed jobs and still the applications keep snowballing in.

In Augusta, the same situation prevails with respect to the H-bomb program. Workers from all over the country on the job hunt. They've heard of lucrative pay offers for helping to build and later to man the multi-million Atomic Energy plant and so they're pouring in. Already, business interests in that section of Georgia and South Carolina say the whole economic structure is threatened.

The trouble is, the new industries are setting up here without reliable indexes of wage rates in the section and so cannot be called to account for wage policies. Not in history, for example, has the Bureau of Labor Statistics made a general, overall survey of wages in Atlanta.

If such a survey had been made, and there was some standard by which to proceed in respect to salaries, our new visitors would be less inclined to pay rates that would seriously hurt other businesses in the locality. That's what Atlanta businessmen believe, at any rate.

So, in the light of past experiences and fears of a recurrence of a bad situation Atlanta businessmen are taking heart from the announcement Wednesday by Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, that Atlanta has been selected as one of six key cities (others are Boston, New York, Chicago, Denver and San Francisco) in which an all-purpose wage and salary survey will be conducted.

Bagdon said the survey will be made in an effort to meet the current demands from business, labor and the general public for current wage and salary information on community levels. It has nothing to do, he said, with wage stabilization.

The Bureau plans to collect and analyze information on earnings for office, professional and technical positions, maintenance and power plant occupations, and custodial, warehousing and shipping jobs.

A selected sample of approximately 215 establishments, representing manufacturing, transportation, wholesale and retail trade, finance, insurance, real estate, and services, employing more than 65,000 workers, will be contacted.

In addition, occupational wage rates will be presented for a limited number of characteristic industries, such as machinery, women's dresses, department and women's ready-to-wear stores, banks, home offices of insurance companies, automobile repair shops and power laundries.

The survey will be conducted by personal visits of field representatives of the Bureau's Wage Analysis Division. Preliminary information will be available early in April. All information received from concerns will be kept in strictest confidence.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce wholeheartedly endorses the survey and will co-operate in carrying it through.

Note to Brunswick

Memo to Brunswick: The shipbuilding program for the current war is getting underway. Wednesday the Maritime Administration awarded contracts to five shipyards for construction of 25 new-type, high speed cargo ships. One of the yards getting a contract was Brunswick's old wartime shipbuilding companion: Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp., Pascagoula, Miss., which will build $7,898,000 worth of craft.

Ford Layoffs

Ford Motor Company, which along with the rest of the automotive manufacturers has been plagued by shortages and rail strikes, resulting in worker layoffs, was hit hard again Wednesday. The company announced it will lay off 30,000 workers at the big River Rouge Plant in Dearborn, Mich., despite the improvement in the rail situation. Material shortages and lack of freight cars forced the action.

Light Bulb Plant

Otis O. Rae, of Atlanta, manager of Southeastern district of the Westinghouse Corporation, represented the company at groundbreaking ceremonies Wednesday in Reform, Ala., where a 70-acre tract of land has been purchased for the construction of a light-bulb manufacturing plant.

Rae, with the company 33 years, and top-ranking officer in the Southeastern United States, announced that the quarter-mile long structure, comprises 150,000 sq. ft. of floor space would provide jobs for about 500. He said this will be the first major manufacturing plant which his company has located in the South.

Robert A. Corvey, of Atlanta, manager of the Westinghouse Lamp Division of the Southeast, with headquarters in Chamblee, presided as master of ceremonies at the ground-breaking rites.

Editors Hear Marsh

Atlanta members of the Southern Industrial Editors Association were told at a dinner meeting here Wednesday that printing buyers are often unreasonable in their demands on printers.

Bill Marsh, of Foote & Davies, Inc., told the group a good buyer must have at least a fair knowledge of a printer's problems, his capacities and limitations.

Marsh showed samples of lithography, letter press and other work as done at his firm and discussed methods to control quality of photographs, from the camera to plate-making.

Sears Record Sales

Sears, Roebuck and Company, the nation's largest mail order and retail merchandise firm, Wednesday reported in Chicago sales for its fiscal year ended Jan. 31 set a new record. The January sales were up very sharply compared with last year.

Sales for January, 1951, totaled $208,087,502, a gain of 47.4 per cent over $141,159,595 in 1950. Sales for the 12 months ended Jan. 31 totaled $2,690,466,374, a gain of 18.2 per cent over sales of $2,276,399,559 in the previous 12 months.

NC & St. L. Accepts Bid

Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway Wednesday awarded $2,415,000 of equipment trust certificates to an investment banking group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. The winning bid was 99.229 for a 2½ percent interest rate.

Subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the syndicate is reoffering the certificates at prices to yield from 1.90 percent for those maturing Feb. 1, 1952, to 2.65 percent for those maturing Feb. 1, 1966.

Gallup To Speak

George Gallup, public opinion expert, will be principal speaker at the second annual Advertising Institute to be held at Emory University March 16 and 17. The Institute is sponsored jointly by Emory University and the Atlanta Advertising Club. The cochairmen are Prof. Richard Joel, of Emory, and Lewis F. Gordon, Vice President of the Citizens and Southern National Bank.

Peace Move Stirs Bonds

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—International developments stirred up an aggressive trading interest in Japanese bonds Wednesday. Prices for nine Japanese issues advanced from $17.50 to $60 per $1,000 bond in brisk dealings.

Outside of the busy dealings in the Nipponese obligations, bond trading was at a low ebb and volume was the lightest in a month.

Railroad issues attracted some buying, however, due to the gaining momentum of back-to-work movements of striking switchmen and prices generally were at a higher level. Selected rails pushed higher from $7.50 to $30. Exchange trading amounted to $3,750,000, par value, compared with $4,660,000 Tuesday.

An indication by Ambassador John Foster Dulles, now in Japan to explore the possibilities of a peace treaty, that the United States would allow Japan to abandon all the social reforms of the occupation was responsible for the popularity of Japanese liens.

No Newsprint Quotas Sighted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—A defense production official said Wednesday there is no present plan to allocate newsprint although a shortage of 130,000 tons is indicated for 1951.

Only some development of "major impact"—such as a raw material or transportation shortage—will make it necessary to revive World War II control of newsprint supplies, he told the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

The newsprint situation was reviewed for the Committee by Gabriel J. Ticoulat, chief of the pulp and paper section of the National Production Authority (NPA), and H. B. McCoy, assistant NPA administrator for industry operations.

Drygoods

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(AP)—The cotton textile market remained at a virtual standstill Wednesday with both buyers and sellers awaiting clarification of the government price regulation. Of considerable importance to mills was the question of whether ceiling prices are to be imposed on raw cotton and also when the cotton exchanges will reopen for trading in futures. Mills have a large volume of open contracts in futures which are yet to be covered in connection with textile operations.

In wool goods mills remained on the sideline, pending clarification of price control regulations. A steady market was reported at the Sydney wool auction today.

Activity in rayon goods was held to a minimum by price uncertainties.

Lockheed Start Aimed At April 1

Firm Gets Order To Rush Clean-Out

By HILL MILES

MARIETTA, Feb. 7—The Government Wednesday gave the Tumpane Company the "on the double" order to clear the vast Marietta Bomber Plant for the manufacture "as soon as possible" of vitally needed bombers.

Tumpane, the civilian concern charged with processing and creating the acres of machine tools and other military materials from their postwar storage quarters in the plant, announced that it will go on a 60-hour-per-week basis, with two shifts, in order to speed the work.

It sent out a hurried call for 200 additional workers—carpenters, riggers, crane operators and clerks. All persons qualified and wishing employment are urged to report to Gate 4 of the Bomber Plant.

Meanwhile, James V. Carmichael, President of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation's Georgia Division, who will manage the Plant, reiterated the need for skilled workers (engine mechanics, electronics men and others experienced in aircraft work) for the first phase of the Lockheed program here—that of modifying B-29s.

Carmichael said he hopes to swing into modification work by April 1. The actual manufacture of new aircraft will await clearance of the main Bomber Plant.

Carmichael said the schedule of employment calls for 3,000 skilled workers initially, but by the end of the year 5,000 will be needed.

The Air Materiel Command, now in charge of the Plant, also announced that it wishes to hasten the evacuation of the Regional Office of the Veterans Administration from some of the Plant buildings.

To this end, it will obtain priorities for the materials necessary to complete the new VA building now being remodelled at 441-449 Peachtree St.

This new building is supposed to be ready for VA in 60 days, but the Air Materiel Command hopes to get it finished sooner in order to make room for some of Lockheed employees now at work in the Plant.

In addition, it also served notice on the following groups to vacate buildings at the plant site: The Georgia National Guard, a unit of Georgia Tech, U. S. Homes, Inc.; Estill & Wallace, and Powell & Wilbur.

Maj. W. R. Britton, of the Air Materiel Command, also announced he is seeking 14,000 square feet of floor space in Atlanta for the relocation of his unit.

Meanwhile, the prospect of the reopening of the Bomber Plant has created a land "rush" in Marietta and vicinity. Operators in both Marietta and Atlanta are seeking options for land on which to build new housing.

They anticipate that the Bomber Plant operations will practically double the population of Marietta.

Since the announcement of the reactivation of the plant, real estate operators have taken five or six big land options in the area. One parcel, within the city limits, is large enough to accomodate 1,000 dwelling units. In addition, there are three big housing developments planned for the Smyrna area—one reportedly for 5,000 housing units.

State Bank Conditions Reflect Booming Trade

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

Booming business conditions in Georgia during 1950 are reflected in the official report on the State banks at the end of 1950.

This report, released Wednesday by A. P. Persons, State Superintendent of Banks, reveals that during the year assets, deposits and capital structures of the State banks increased sharply over 1949. The figures of this report exclude the national banks of the State. The latter institutions also have reported similar increases.

The report is for the condition of 291 State banks and 15 branch banks as of Dec. 31, 1950, as compared with the condition of 290 banks and 10 branches as of the same date of the preceding year.

In the matter of assets, these banks reported a total of $831,262,203.97, a net increase of $77,845,566.64 over the $753,416,637.33 reported at the end of 1949.

In volume of deposits, both demand and savings, the figure was $755,481,578.73. This was an increase of $72,432,360.21 over the total deposits of $683,049,318.52 reported for Dec. 31, 1949.

The capital structures of all these State banks stood at $68,874,395.54 at the close of last year, an increase of $6,646,079.27 over the $62,228,316.27 figure reported at the end of the previous year.

Of the aggregate figure for these capital accounts, there was during the year an increase of $1,260,000 in stock outstanding, an increase of $2,530,654.89 in surplus, an increase of $643,722.40 in undivided profits and an increase of $2,285,576.98 in reserves.

An additional aspect of the good business conditions which prevailed in Georgia during 1950 came from Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in the figures for the new business incorporations in Georgia.

During the year, there were 1,259 such new incorporations, an increase of 172 over the 1,087 reported in 1949. The increase in Georgia was the largest in any Southeastern State except Florida.

To Women With Nagging Backache

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Brokerage Firm Reports Peak Profits

Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, nationwide brokerage firm which does the biggest volume of business on the New York Stock Exchange, made a net profit in 1950 of $12,544,090 before taxes and charitable and educational contributions, according to F. D. Willis, manager of the Atlanta office, 25 North Pryor Street.

After charitable and educational contributions amounting to $833,740 and taxes estimated at $8,500,000, there was a balance of net income of $3,510,350 available to the 58 general partners of the firm, Willis said. This compares with a 1949 balance of $1,235,370.

Willis said 1950 was the best year the firm has had since organization in its present form in 1940. He said in 1950 the firm did 10.2 percent of the round lot business on the New York exchange, compared with 9.3 percent in 1949, and during the same period did 14.7 percent of the odd lot business as compared with 13.7 percent the previous year.

Charles E. Merrill, directing partner of the firm, said that during 1950 it paid $2,250,000 in bonuses to employees with one year's service and additional payments for longer service. He said the partners contributed $1,414,739 to the employees' profit-sharing plan, bringing to $3,651,603 the total contributions to the plan. This plan was organized in 1945.

In a letter to his customers, Merrill said production and inflation controls are the two keys to a successful mobilization economy.

Today You Can Start to RELIEVE THE CAUSE of YOUR SICKNESS

Aches, Pains, Gas, Heartburn, Indigestion, due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin

Why be a burden to yourself, your family, your friends, because of deficiency distresses that are stealing your energy, robbing you of vitality, making you miserable. Thousands of folks now know that today's great HADACOL provides, not mere symptomatic relief, but real relief for the very cause of distress due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin.

Ray C. Watson, 4428 Cassie Road, Midland, Michigan: "Well, here's my thought for HADACOL. It's really wonderful. Before I started to take HADACOL, I was always tired. I ached all the time. I'm an operator at a chemical company and my job requires a lot of climbing stairs. At the end of my shift, I was all in, ready to drop. But since I've taken HADACOL, I feel fine. I've taken 5 bottles of HADACOL. So I really can thank HADACOL and will continue to take it as I need it."

HADACOL supplies deficient systems with more than the average daily requirement of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin plus helpful quantities of Phosphorus and Calcium. HADACOL builds up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to send these precious Vitamins and Minerals coursing throughout your body to every body organ. Many doctors recommend HADACOL. Only HADACOL gives you that Wonderful Hadacol Feeling. Trial size, $1.25; large family or hospital size, $3.50.

Driver Rules Tightened As Crashes Prove Costly

By HERMAN HANCOCK

More stringent regulations have been ordered by Stafford W. Graydon, Health Engineer, in a new effort to reduce traffic wrecks of City sanitary trucks.

Alarmed over nine accidents within the past six weeks for which the City paid damages amounting to $1,657.70 at Council's meeting last Monday, Graydon has warned drivers they will be subject to dismissal for one accident if they are wholly to blame unless they pay all resulting damages.

The action was taken following a conference between Councilman Ralph Huie, Finance Committee Chairman, and Graydon, and is effective immediately.

City responsibility for damage done privately-owned vehicles by City equipment has long been a source of concern to administration officials. For years, the City declined to pay any such damages.

Finally, some members of Council insisted that the City pay such damages, contending that although there may be no legal responsibility a moral responsibility exists. That has been the policy for the past several years.

Graydon reduced accident incidence among his drivers in 1949 by an order making drivers subject to dismissal after two accidents when they were regarded as wholly responsible, but last year the accidents began a steady increase.

Terminal Face Lift

Another Atlanta landmark—the Atlanta Joint Terminals on Central Ave.—is going to get a face lifting. City Building Inspector William R. Wofford has issued a permit to sandblast, repair and coat the exterior at a cost of $57,000.

Home Rule Praised

Councilman John A. White, long an exponent of home rule for Atlanta, Wednesday hailed the home rule bill passed by the Georgia Legislature as the most important boost to municipalities in 25 years. He said the new measure will authorize cities to choose the form of government under which they wish to live and will empower them to fix salaries, close streets, create and abolish jobs and perform other municipal functions without having to appeal to the Legislature.

Warning on Freezes

Provisional Mayor Pro Tem Roscoe Ailor is scheduled to enter Emory Hospital Sunday for an operation. . . . Ald. Raleigh Drennon, of the Sixth Ward, is vacationing in Florida. . . . Willing Water, the elfin imp of the City Waterworks, warns Atlantans on bills being sent out this month, to cut their water off at the cutoff near curb lines to prevent costly freezes. . . . Miss Clancie Brannan, Mayor Hartsfield's private Secretary, is away from her desk suffering from a severe cold.

Aid Handicapped

Five prominent Atlantans Wednesday were awarded certificates of achievement for their work and cooperation in observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in Atlanta last October. Mayor Hartsfield, who issued the proclamation presented the handsome awards to Leland R. Dean, General Chairman of the Atlanta observance; George Griffin, of Georgia Tech; Berry Hendrix, of the Atlanta Gas Light Co.; Harry Binford, Jr., advertising executive, and Elmer L. Barfield, of the Veterans Service group. Among those attending the ceremonies were Alton R. Colcord, Placement Specialist; Henry M. Cullinan, of the Employment Service; Harris Clark, of the Veterans Employmnet Service, and Otis Dyer, of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division.

Gov. Persons Offers Cut in Pen Workday

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 7—(AP)—Gov. Gordon Persons promised convicts in the Kilby Prison cotton mill Wednesday that their workday would be cut from 10 to eight hours if they behave themselves.

Eight fires have broken out in the mill in less than a month—three of them in the past 24 hours. Prison officials said seven were deliberately set.

Addressing several hundred convicts in the Kilby dining hall, Gov. Persons warned that the work day will go back to 10 if there are "any more monkeyshines."

The Governor told the convicts the series of fires had nothing to do with his decision to shorten working hours. He said it was part of his campaign promise to operate Alabama prisons humanely.

KEEPING UP WITH ATLANTA

Good 'Liberty' Town

Atlanta's reputation as a popular "liberty" town for servicemen received a boost last weekend when 7,255 members of the armed forces visited the city.

The figures were compiled by the Third Army Provost Marshal's office, which conducted a weekend survey. . . . Most of the visitors are stationed at military installations within a radius of 150 miles of Atlanta. Third Army officials estimated another 5,000 servicemen passed through the city non-stop during the same period.

Goes to Turkey

George W. Hintgen, Communicable Disease Center sanitary engineer officer in Atlanta for the past year, has been assigned to the ECA Mission to Turkey. He will serve as technical advisor and training officer on the malaria control program in Turkey. His headquarters will be in Ankara. . . . Carlos Hemperley Wednesday was appointed director of Civil Defense for East Point by Major E. J. Bass. . . . Dr. Merle Curtis, professor of history at the University of Wisconsin, will address the Atlanta University Forum at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 14, in the exhibition gallery of the Trevor Arnett Library. His subject will be "Foreign Images of the United States."

Second-place winners were Mrs. Robert Ingram and Ed Jarvis; third place, Mrs. Charles Hall and Jim Conklin, and fourth place, Mr. and Mrs. John Dorsey.

New Hormones Praised by Medical Men

Two prominent physicians said here Wednesday the "miracle" hormones, ACTH and cortisone, may lead to the answer of the big question in medicine: "Why are people sick?"

Dr. William S. Clark of Harvard Medical School and Dr. John R. Mote of Chicago, director of Armour Laboratories, who addressed the closing session of the Atlanta Graduate Medical Assembly, hailed ACTH and cortisone as the greatest discoveries in medicine in recent years.

Both Dr. Clark and Dr. Mote believe the importance of harmful side effects caused by cortisone and ACTH injections has been overemphasized.

Dr. Clark said the hormones suppressed the symptoms of arthritis so well that patients, formerly bedridden, could hold regular jobs. But he declared the "big problem" was the hormones have no permanent beneficial effects. He said patients must continue to take the hormones or their symptoms will reappear.

Dr. Mote said the earlier the patient is given ACTH or cortisone after the onset of arthritis "the better." He said the hormones won't repair joints already badly damaged.

More than 1,500 doctors from the Southeast attended the three-day Medical Assembly, sponsored by the Fulton County Medical Society and the Fifth District Medical Society. Members of the Graduate Medical Assembly committee pronounced the meeting "a big success."

It is estimated there are some 10,000 mineral springs in the United States—of which at least a thousand have produced water in commercial quantities.

Money to Loan 72

MONEY
While You Wait
AUTO LOANS
The fastest and easiest way to get a loan is to borrow the money on your car. There is only one thing to do—park your car either in our lot or near our office, come in and show us proof of ownership. The entire transaction takes only a few minutes and you can drive away with the cash in your pocket. There is absolutely nothing else to it.
FURNITURE LOANS
Bring your own list—you get the money immediately.
SIGNATURE LOANS
You can get up to $1,000 on your signature. Immediate cash.
OTHER LOANS
No matter what type of loan you want, we make it a point to give you the money without delay.
REDUCED PAYMENT LOANS
We will be glad to reduce present payments on any loan or obligation you now have, and give you additional cash besides.

Gen. Russell Retires as Guard Leader

Maj. Gen. Henry D. Russell, commanding general of the Forty-eighth Infantry Division, Georgia-Florida National Guard, has retired from active military service after a colorful 35-year career.

Maj. Gen. Russell

Maj. Gen. Ernest Vandiver, Jr., Adjutant General of Georgia, who announced the retirement, said after a conference with military leaders of Georgia and Florida (which composes the Forty-eighth Division) that Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Hutchinson, former assistant division commander under Gen. Russell, would succeed Gen. Russell as commanding general.

Gen. Vandiver said he had appointed a board to determine the qualifications of a Georgia National Guard officer to succeed Gen. Hutchinson as assistant division commander.

The board includes Brig. Gen. Joseph B. Fraser, now on active duty with the 108th Anti-Aircraft Brigade; Brig. Gen. Patrick E. Seawright, commanding general of the Forty-eighth Division Artillery, and Col. Clifford Matthews, U. S. Army, retired.

Gen Russell, a Macon attorney, organized the Forty-eighth Division in Georgia and Florida after World War II. The Division, composed of 7,200 men last Summer, is the major component of the Georgia National Guard now in the State. Gen. Russell was promoted to major general in 1932 when he commanded the Thirtieth Infantry Division.

Garage Man Fired In Numbers Racket

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7—(AP). Embarrassed city officials learned Wednesday a large municipal garage was being used as a pick-up station for policy and clearing house games.

Safety Director Alvin J. Sutton ordered the police racket squad to check all city building for gambling.

"I'm satisfied I have fired the ring leader," he said: "We have been investigating these gambling reports for months."

The man fired was not named.

TAX PRIMER

Don't Forget Legitimate Deductions

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—Many taxpayers can reduce their income taxes by deducting certain interests and tax payments.

Remember, every taxpayer has a choice of two methods of taking deductions. One is to take a standard deduction allowance amounting to 10 percent of your income. The other is to itemize your allowable deductions and take the total amount.

If allowable deductions add up to more than 10 percent of your income, you save by itemizing them.

The law allows deduction of most kinds of local taxes and interest payments.

You can deduct interest payments on a home mortgage, on a personal loan or on installment purchases of an auto, television set, furniture and other articles.

You can deduct state income taxes, most state or local retail sales taxes, most property taxes and auto license taxes or fees. You can deduct state gasoline taxes in California, Florida, Louisiana, North Dakota, Utah, Wyoming and Hawaii.

You are allowed to deduct state or local retail sales taxes if under the laws of your state they are imposed directly upon the consumer, or if they are imposed upon the retailer and the amount of tax is separately stated in your bill.

You are not allowed to deduct federal income tax or federal taxes on liquor, cigarettes, autos, gasoline, tires, radios, television, jewelry, furs, toilet preparations and the like.

Yon cannot deduct taxes for local benefits such as assessments for streets, sidewalks and the like which tend to increase the value of your property. Social security taxes can be deducted by an employer but not by an employee.

You are not allowed to deduct telephone, telegraph and transportation taxes unless they are incurred in carrying on a business. In that case such deductions are listed on separate Schedule C, which is filed with Form 1040.

In this article, however, we are interested mainly in the so-called non-business deductions. These deductions are listed on Page 3 of Form 1040 if you choose to itemize them instead of taking the 10 percent deduction allowance.

You can deduct contributions to religious, charitable and educational organizations if they are non-profit. You cannot deduct gifts to individuals such as money to a relative or a needy person.

The law allows you to deduct property as well as cash contributions to allowable organizations. You can deduct the fair market value of property contributions, including the cost of gasoline and oil used in performing free services for a charity.

Fake Love Letters Draw Jail Term

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7—(AP)—Kenneth L. Robbins is going to Federal prison for a year and a day for writing phony love letters that his friend thought were coming from "a nice girl in Terre Haute, Ind."

"It was only make-believe," the 30-year-old Frankfort, Ind., man told Federal Judge William E. Steckler Tuesday.

The judge found the letters to Charles Wallace, Frankfort cigar store employee, were so full of promises of marriage and appeals for money that Wallace sent $300 to the imaginary girl.
